RUMOR OF PAY TO SENATOR ON TARIFF PROBED

Unidentified Member Is Accused of Taking Pay From Sugar Head.

DAVIS JOINS DEMAND FOR INVESTIGATION

Nye Admits Finding Data in Hearings on Election Slush Funds.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

The Caraway lobby committee will get into action again today to investigate published reports that a senator had received from $100,000 to $150,000 from the head of a sugar company during the consideration of the tariff bill last year.

Senator James J. Davis, of Pennsylvania, whose campaign expenditures were the subject of an exhaustive inquiry by the Nye committee, joined with Senators Borah and Robinson in demanding an inquiry into the published reports, and said that he had given Senator Caraway a list of witnesses who could straighten the matter out.

The Pennsylvania senator in a formal statement said:

"I have just called Senator Caraway on the telephone and asked him to call the lobby committee together, and he said he would call a meeting tomorrow morning.

Full Investigation Asked.

"I, as one senator of the United States, demand that this matter be investigated to the fullest extent. The sooner we get to it, the better off we all shall be. I, as one senator, want to have my name cleared up. I told Senator Caraway that I would get the people involved in this down here to testify before his committee."

After the issuance of this statement consideration was given to another one, but late in the afternoon Mr. Davis' office announced that nothing more would be said at this time.

It is doubtful if any witnesses will be heard today, but the Caraway committee plans to meet and determine upon a course of procedure. Senator Nye told the Senate that his committee had come upon the matters concerned in the course of its investigations into campaign expenditures, but that after determining that campaign expenditures were not involved felt it would be exceeding its authority to pursue the matter further. Whereupon he prepared a memorandum concerning the sugar information for the Caraway committee.

Rumors in Senate.

This was some time ago. In the meantime, rumors circulated about the Senate. The matter was brought to a head yesterday by the publication of a story in the New York World which said that the Nye committee had found witnesses who would testify that the senator concerned did receive money from the head of a sugar company, and one witness had testified that the money "was intended as compensation for services in the fight for a higher sugar tariff."

According to this story, one witness said that after the payment on one occasion of $10,000 to the senator, the sugar head was apprised that the tariff would be 3 cents, which was the levy the high sugar tariff people were seeking.

Senator Borah read the story into the Record, and explaining that it reflected upon every member, demanded an investigation.

Nye Deplores Story.

Senator Nye in an earlier statement had deplored the publication of the story, and asserted that the contact of his committee with the charges

STIMSON DECLINES TO AIR ITALIAN ROW

Group, Ready to Ask Recall of Envoy to U. S., Is Denied Hearing.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

Secretary of State Stimson late yesterday declined to grant a hearing to a group of American citizens of Italian extraction who planned to ask him to recommend the recall of Giacomo de Martino, the Italian Ambassador.

Secretary Stimson wrote a brief note to the visitors in which he merely stated that he could not see them.

The State Department head does not feel that it his duty to listen to charges against the envoy of a friendly nation. At the Italian Embassy, it was said that the incident was "not worthy of comment."

The delegation, which was headed by Dr. Charles Fama, anti-Fascist editor of New York, gave out a statement saying that the demand for Ambassador de Martino's recall was based on the latter's action in having Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, of the Marine Corps, reprimanded for his criticism of Premier Mussolini.

The demand, the statement said, also was based on the ambassador's "more recent investigation into the alleged criticisms of the Fascisti government by John Lord O'Brian, First Assistant to Attorney General Mitchell."

Last night Dr. Fama announced that Senator Royal S. Copeland (Democrat), New York, had agreed to transmit to President Hoover the petition of protest which the delegation was prepared to leave with Secretary Stimson.

The petition contains a resolution which was adopted at a meeting of the Italian war veterans in New York recently.

"It conclusively appears," the resolution says, "that one Giacomo De Martino, accredited to this country as Italian Ambassador of the Kingdom of Italy, is not conducting himself as a diplomatic representative of the Kingdom of Italy, but is in fact only the special agent of an Italian political party, namely, the Fascist party of Italy, and of its secret police, the O. V. R. A., and that the said De Martino has been charged by the grand council of such political party with the specific mandate of securing control of and Facistizing Italian subjects and American citizens of Italian extraction, and also Italo-American institutions and organizations in this country."

The resolution charged that Ital-

British Efforts to Halt French and Italian Race Are Succeeding.

ENGLISH SPOKESMEN EN RUOTE TO ROME

Paris Considers Treaty of London in Better Light After Parleys.

Rome, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Transformation of the London naval three-power pact into a five-power treaty, with Italy and France adhering, appeared a distinct probability tonight.

Word that the British foreign minister, Arthur Henderson, and A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, had left for Rome to present here a conditional accord reached in Paris was hailed with satisfaction in circles conversant with Italian official views.

In these same circles it was considered that the basis of the Franco-British accord, as far as it was known in Rome, was generally acceptable to the foreign office. As R. L. Craigie, British admiralty expert, initiated the conversations and as Italy has been constantly in touch with them through diplomatic channels, it was taken for granted that the British officials were coming to Rome because they knew a settlement was possible.

Policies Held Harmonious.

What was known of the Paris agreement was said to harmonize with Italian policy, and a few persons thought that the question of details would not be permitted to obstruct finally such important aims as the attainment of a five-power pact and speeding up of the labor of naval disarmament.

The accord, it was felt in circles close to the government, would not require the sacrifice of Italian prestige or the relinquishment of Italy's stand for parity in naval tonnage with any continental European power. France's paper superiority of 107,000 tons over Italy, it was observed, relatively amounts to little. Under the Washington agreement France has superiority of 100,000 tons in battleships but Italy on the other hand has theoretical parity which it is not using.

The French fleet has a 20,000-ton airplane carrier but Italian naval experts, it is understood, are of the opinion that Italy needs none under the present program.

Italian Generosity Hinted.

It was said that Italy might be willing, under certain conditions, to disregard the French excess of 37,000 tons in other categories as an evidence of good will and a definite gesture toward disarmament. Whatever minor difficulties might develop, persons close to the government felt that they would be unlikely to upset the now apparently possible settlement of the long-standing Franco-Italian divergencies.

Machado Is Menaced By Time Bomb Blast

Explosion Wrecks Part of Cuban Palace Near President's Room.

Soldier Admits Death Plot; Riots Halt Talk at New Capitol.

Havana, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—The Associated Press learned today that a bomb exploded within the presidential palace yesterday and that it was only by a narrow margin that President Machado was not killed or seriously wounded.

Police last night admitted that a bomb had been placed in the palace but, because the investigation had not been completed, let it appear that the explosion had been discovered before the person who placed it there had time to detonate it.

It was learned today that the bomb had wrecked part of the top floor of the palace and that a soldier who had been on patrol duty on the roof of the home of Cuba's chief executive had confessed to placing it there.

Through a slight error on the part of the would-be assassin, the bomb, consisting of a heavy piece of pipe filled with dynamite, exploded one floor above where the president lives, wrecking the bathroom of the president's son-in-law, Emilio Obregon, and endangering the lives of the latter's children in the room adjoining.

One of the secret police who figured in the immediate investigation said that the bomb had been lowered through a 4-inch air vent running from the president's bath on the third floor to the roof, and that a long fuse had been attached to be lighted from the upper end, correctly calculated to detonate the bomb 10 minutes after having been lighted.

The bomb was intended to explode

TATTOO IDENTIFIES BODY OF WOMAN

Mutilated Corpse Found in Woods Believed That of Mrs. Smith.

Working backward from a positive identification of the body of the woman who was found slain in a clump of woods off the Washington-Richmond highway near Doswell, Va., late Saturday, authorities of Carolina County were jubilant last night in the belief that the eagerly awaited "break" in the case had come.

Word coming from Charlotte, N. C., from Mrs. G. A. Weaver, that the tattoo marks found on the corpse corresponded identically with some her daughter, Mrs. Vann Smith, had had tattooed years ago, led the police to announce that they were satisfied the mutilated corpse was that of Mrs. Smith.

They learned further that the woman had a husband and three small children now living in Marshville, N. C. Mr. and Mrs. Smith separated some years ago, Mrs. Weaver explained, and her daughter had not been heard from since she left Petty, Fla., where she had been employed by a music concern.

Mrs. Weaver declared that her daughter had adopted the name of Mary Cleo Freeman, which was the name used by a waitress in an inn in Tappahannock, Va. Several partial identifications had already been made by friends of "Miss Freeman," who knew her when she was employed at the inn. A point that now puzzles the authorities is how some birth marks on the lower left leg of Miss

DRY ACT SUSTAINED BY SUPREME COURT

Unanimous Opinion Declares 18th Amendment Valid; Clark Overruled.

(Associated Press.)

With vigor and emphasis the Supreme Court yesterday upheld the constitutionality of the eighteenth amendment.

In a clearly worded and unanimous opinion it sustained the validity of the amendment against the contention of Federal Judge William Clark, of New Jersey, who ruled it had been improperly ratified.

The decision, announced by the court's youngest member in years and service, Associate Justice Roberts, transferred the perennial battle over the liquor laws to the field of revision or repeal.

It placed the entire question upon the shoulders of Congress and lent an added significance to the much-discussed and much-disputed report of the Wickersham Commission.

The Clark decision was based upon a contention that the amendment to be valid should have been ratified by State popular conventions rather than by the State Legislatures.

Counsel supporting Judge Clark's position argued the fifth article of the Constitution differentiated between amendments making changes in governmental machinery and those affecting the liberties of the people. Amendments of the latter category, it was contended, must be submitted by Congress to State conventions.

Early in his opinion, Justice Roberts said attorneys supporting the

Shoals, Jobless Bills Face Veto With Bonus

Measures Opposed by President, But Passed by Congress, Have Dubious Future; Disapproval of Veterans' Loan Expected Shortly.

(Associated Press).

The Muscle Shoals compromise yesterday joined the veterans loan bill at the White House to await presidential action.

The latter will be vetoed today or tomorrow and returned to the Capitol, where it faces almost certain enactment over Mr. Hoover's disapproval.

The Muscle Shoals resolution must make a weary round of governmental departments and bureaus. Some doubt has been expressed that its travels can be completed in time for return to the White House before March 4.

If Mr. Hoover has not signed it by noon on that date, the time Congress adjourns, it will have been given a "pocket veto." A Muscle Shoals bill passed by Congress three years ago was killed in this way by President Coolidge.

To these two measures a third was added yesterday which also faced a doubtful future.

The Senate approved House amendments and sent to the White House the Wagner bill to create a system of federally supervised employment agencies financed jointly by State and Federal appropriations.

The administration had sponsored a substitute making no provision for governmental financial aid.

An inquiry into the expected results of the veterans' loan bill continued at Mr. Hoover's direction. Government agencies are ascertaining how many veterans would apply for loans and what proportion of these were in economic distress.

The measure increases the loan value of veterans' adjusted service compensation certificates from 22½ per cent to 50 per cent. Its enactment was opposed by Mr. Hoover and Secretary Mellon. The President has promised to veto it.

The Muscle Shoals compromise was reached after a ten-year dispute over the disposition of the vast power and nitrate plants on the Tennessee River acquired by the Government during the war.

As approved by Congress, the measure would provide Government operation of the power plant, private operation of the nitrate plant for fertilizer production, Government construction of power transmission lines and of a feeder dam on the Clinch River in Tennessee.

The Chief Executive yesterday received a telegram from Gov. Miller of Alabama, urging him to approve the bill as an unemployment and farm-relief measure.

Shortly after the measure was received at the White House it was announced it would be sent to the War Department, the Power Commission, the Budget Bureau and possibly the Justice Department for investigation before Mr. Hoover acts.

HOUSE FAVORS ABOLISHING OF SHORT SESSION

Proposal, Now Ready for Senate, Is Passed, 289 to 93.

PRESIDENT WOULD GO IN OFFICE JANUARY 24

Longworth Amendment to Limit Congress Also Is Approved.

(Associated Press.)

After many years of bitter controversy, the House last night adopted a resolution to abolish the short or "lame duck" sessions of Congress by the overwhelming vote of 289 to 93.

The measure now goes back to the Senate. It provides for an amendment to the Constitution to drop the short session of Congress after the biennial November elections. It also would permit a newly elected Congress to be seated on January 4 instead of thirteen months later and a newly elected President on January 24, instead of March 4.

Before the resolution becomes effective, however, the proposal must be submitted to the States and approved by 36 of the 48.

Carrying an amendment sponsored by Speaker Longworth to terminate the second annual session within four months, the measure was substituted for the Norris resolution previously approved six times by the Senate.

Is Called "Square."

The Ohioan said it was "the fair, square thing to do" to adopt the House measure as an amendment to the Norris proposal so that it might go to conference with a view to a settlement of the old dispute this session.

The motion to substitute the House measure for the Norris resolution was put by Chairman Gifford, of the House committee on the election of the President and Vice President, at Mr. Longworth's suggestion.

The fight came on the Longworth amendment, which was adopted by 230 to 148 on a record vote. Taking the floor for one of the few times since he has occupied the Speaker's chair, Mr. Longworth said he would withdraw all his opposition to the proposed constitutional amendment if his amendment were adopted.

Longworth In Warning.

Mr. Longworth said he was not one who felt Congress should go home, but, under the original proposal with Congress convening each January 4, for indeterminate sessions, Congress could be in session perpetually. He warned against two years of Congress continually in session.

The Ohian said that under his amendment the sessions ending May 4 in even numbered years would make way for the national political conventions as well as for the biennial political campaigns.

"Then I also think," Mr. Longworth added, "that Congress should be given a breathing spell."

Although the Longworth proposal was strongly opposed by Representatives Sumners, of Texas, and Jeffers, of Alabama (Democrats), and a large number of Republicans, the parties split and put it over.

Defeated Three Years Ago.

It was the same proposal that caused the defeat of a similar resolution in the House three years ago, when advocates of the Norris resolution insisted upon two indeterminate sessions.

Should the Senate accept the amendment, final action would be possible at this session.

Senator Norris (Republican) Nebraska, author of the Senate measure, described the Longworth amendment as "bad," but did not commit himself against it. He added, however,

PRIMARY WON BY THOMPSON IN QUIET VOTE

MAYOR WILLIAM H. THOMPSON.

Renominated Over Lyle by Margin in Excess of 50,000.

TO OPPOSE CERMACK IN APRIL BALLOTING

Expected Violence Fails to Develop; Dark Horse May Enter Race.

Chicago, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—"Big Bill" Thompson, invincible as ever, won his fourth mayoralty nomination in the Republican primary election today, defeating by a plurality estimated at 50,000 the crime-battling judge, John H. Lyle.

In 2,650 out of 2,987 precincts, Chicago's cowboy mayor had corralled 250,887 votes, while Judge Lyle harvested 200,386 and Alderman Arthur F. Albert, leader of antiadministration forces in the city council and a partisan of Senator Charles S. Deneen, trailed with 87,782.

Against Mayor Thompson in the April election will be pitted Anton J. Cermak, commander in chief of Cook County Democracy, who won his party's nomination hands down. In the few precincts tabulated in the Democratic primary tonight Cermak had more than 60 votes to every 1 cast for his single opponent, John B. Devoney.

Thompson Takes Lead Early.

Thompson lumbered into the lead from the start and less than two hours after the polls closed, the Daily News, supporting Albert, conceded the nomination to the incumbent and predicted he would win by 50,000. Thompson, himself, said he expected to beat Lyle by 60,000.

To "Big Bill" Thompson, the picturesque, blustering bombastic boy of nearly 62 years, it was another sweet victory.

Defeat he has rarely tasted. Alderman some three decades ago—on a reform platform; thrice mayor, with an interval of four years when he retired voluntarily as a scalpel severed his own following, he emerges now from perhaps the severest test of his career with the opportunity to win the mayoralty for the coveted World's Fair term and with it count more years in the executive chair of America's second city than any other man.

Bundesen Is Dark Horse.

In the background of the impending finale to the current political drama there yet lurks a dark horse, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, coroner of Cook County and a political power whose election to his present position was won by the largest majority given a Democrat in 1928.

Dr. Bundesen has kept his own counsel through the tumultuous, bitter weeks of the recent mayoral campaign, but rumor has persis that he awaited only the result of the primary election to jump into hte open as an independent candidate.

He first attained political prominence as city health commissioner by appointment of Mayor Thompson himself, but subsequently broke with the Mayor and, seeking, won the support of the electorate as Democratic candidate for coroner.

Election Was Quiet.

Today's election was one of the quietest in Chicago's history. In view of the bitterness of the campaign, elaborate precautions had been made to deal with any disorder. It was estimated that 70,000 persons were on duty either at the polls or in readiness to rush to the polls.

There was, however, not a single serious disturbance. One election judge was reported to have been kidnaped but he turned up later to deny it and another judge was supposedly

NEW YORK WORLD SALE PERMIT ASKED

Three Pulitzer Brothers Seek Legality of Disposal to Scripps-Howard.

New York, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—The three sons of Joseph Pulitzer, founder of the New York World, asked a surrogate today to permit them to sell to the Scripps-Howard interests the three newspapers published in their gold-domed building on Park Row—the Morning World, the Evening World and the Sunday World.

Surrogate James A. Foley reserved decision on their petition and adjourned court until 11 a. m. tomorrow. He desired to decide whether he could legally permit the sale of the properties under the will of the late founder, who took every possible precaution in his last testiment to make sure his male descendants would continue to publish the papers.

The delay also was favored passively by counsel for the grandchildren of the elder Pulitzer, fourteen of whom are coheirs of a residuary estate with which the fortunes of the World are linked. The guardians of the grandchildren's interests were abetted by Max D. Steuer, noted New York lawyer who caused a surprise by appearing in court in behalf of Paul Block, publisher of a chain of newspapers.

Although Mr. Steuer was without status at the hearing, he introduced the suggestion that Mr. Block desired to make an offer for the Worlds, and his intimation of a better price led some spirited testimony about Mr. Block's part in the efforts of the Pulitzer Brothers, dating back to last August, to dispose of the Worlds.

The Scripps-Howard interests desire to merge the Evening World with the New York Telegram under the name of the New York World-Telegram.

A contract of sale presented to the court called for an immediate down payment of $500,000 upon completion of the sale, and another $500,000 within 90 days. It was indicated notes would be given by the Consolidated Newspaper Corporation, a holding company formed to publish the merged papers, for an additional $2,000,000, and that a further $2,000,000 would be contingent on profits earned by the corporation. The actual figure was not made public.

Roy Howard, chairman of the board of Scripps-Howard, testified the price would be the highest ever paid in the United States for the intangible assets of a newspaper. Under the terms of sale Scripps-Howard would get none of the physical assets of the Press Publishing Co., which publishes the Worlds, but would acquire their Coroner's Hearing Bares Story of Dry Officer's Domestic Troubles.

Manassas, Va., Feb. 24.—The story of how a bullet left thirteen children fatherless with a bereaved mother was unraveled in the courthouse here today at the coroner's inquest into the death of Richard H. Ulysses G. Duvall, 55, the slain agent's brother, was ordered held under $1,000 bond for action of the grand jury, which will convene April 6, after it was decided that Richard H. Duvall died by a gunshot wound inflicted by his brother.

Calvin Coolidge Says:

Some fear is being expressed that a European agreement relating to agricultural products, especially wheat, will be detrimental to the United States. A conference representing 24 countries is now in session at Paris for the purpose of devising some system of international farm relief for Europe. It does seem somewhat strange to learn that more food is being produced there than can find a ready market. No doubt improved farm machinery has had the same effect as in the United States.

As our farmers have secured the adoption of a policy practically excluding importation of many of their products, we can not object to a like policy by others. Yet we do import about $700,000,000 worth of farm products. While we may suffer some temporary loss of exports from a European agreement, in the long run our interests are so vast and varied that the economic strength of that continent will be greatly beneficial to us. Compared to the injury that we would suffer from a breaking down of the finances of that region, any agreement they may make would be distinctly to our advantage. European prosperity will be much better for us than European depression.

RUMOR OF BRIBE AROUSES SENATE

left the conclusion that they were without merit. When he subsequently joined with Senators Borah and Robinson in the opinion that there should be an investigation, Senator Robinson got after him and said that if he was prepared to say the charges were without merit then he, Robinson, did not want to subject the senator involved to the "humiliation and degradation" that an inquiry would involve.

Senator Nye replied that he was not prepared to say this, and in answer to a question by Senator Borah said he had not pursued the charges to the extent of determining their accuracy or falsity but only to the point of determining they had no bearing on campaign expenditures.

On the floor of the Senate, Senator Watson, the Republican leader, asked Senator Nye if his committee had received rumors that somebody had given $100,000 to some senator.

No Specified Amount.

"No specified amount was mentioned," Senator Nye said.

"Was there something of that kind?"

"There was."

Senator Borah wanted to know if the committee had ended its investigation because it had found it did not have jurisdiction in the case. Senator Nye said this was the case.

"Not because there was nothing to investigate?" asked Senator Borah.

"Indeed, no," Senator Nye replied.

After the investigating job had been placed upon the Caraway committee, Senator Caraway said:

Rumor to Be Probed.

"The committee will investigate the rumor, since the Senate agreed that it should be done. True or false, everyone has a right to know what the facts are. I have heard this stuff from many sources, but it was Senator Nye who laid certain materials before our committee."

Senator Nye had until recently intended to introduce a resolution declaring Senator Davis' seat vacant because of his campaign expenditures, but announced a few days ago that he would take no such action.

The Nye committee is understood to have sent one of its members to New York to interview one of the sugar men involved and to have heard two others in executive session here.

Senator Nye said on the floor yesterday that the committee had not come upon any definite amount involved in the alleged transactions.

BODY OF WOMAN IDENTIFIED HERE

Freeman came to be absent on the corpse. They believe that there is some explanation in the mutilated condition of the body.

The whole of Caroline County's peace force was last night engaged in an attempt to locate a man with whom Miss Freeman left Tappahannock Wednesday. They believe this man holds the solution to the murder. At least, they pointed out, he can possibly throw some light on where she went when she gave up her job and announced that she was returning to Charlotte.

This man, police learned, is a traveling saleaman, and the tag numbers on the automobile in which the couple drove away after bidding a gay farewell to several acquaintances of Miss Freeman have been given the officers.

The manner in which Miss Freeman came to her death is causing much wonderment among physicians of Bowling Green who have examined the corpse. They expressed the opinion last night that the body, as it is now constituted, would not show how death came. They pointed out the fact that the viscera was missing and that other anatomical parts vital to a complete autopsy are gone.

The fact that the skull appears to be unharmed is one of the perplexing angles to the case, the physicians declared. Usually, the skull is found to be fractured, or a wound of some sort that would cause death is found. The coroner's jury reached the decision that "the manner of death and the party or parties responsible" are unknown.

CHINA HELD WILLING TO ACCEPT U.S. LOAN

Obscurity Surrounding Plan Dispelled; Purpose Is Told by Agent.

The proposed silver bullion loan from America to China threw off some of its obscurity by two cablegrams received here yesterday by Judge Paul Linebarger, who, both as legal adviser and special treaty agent of the Nanking government, says that the doubt is now dispelled.

The first cablegram came from Judge Linebarger's son, Paul, jr., who represents his father in Nanking, and who declares that he "conferred with Marshal Chiang Kai Shek, the president of the State Council of China, who awaits American action," and that "Nanking unanimously hopes Senate passes loan clause before adjournment."

The second cablegram is from a Chinese economist, C. T. King, who wires Judge Linebarger congratulations for successful effort, expressing the keen appreciation in which the loan has progressed in Chinese popularity, and asking that felicitations be conveyed to Senator Pittman.

"I was more afraid of this loan being defeated in China than in America," declared Judge Linebarger. "The Chinese are a very proud race and feel humiliated that they can not pay up the small indebtedness of China, which in fact amounts to less than the indebtedness of the City of New York; a mere bagatelle which the Chinese can pay up almost over night when they really get themselves adjusted.

"Our research canvass in China shows that there is no silver in large quantities in China itself, the silver reserves all being strong boxed in the foreign treaty ports, where the Chinese can't use it. My plan is to have 26 American banks (one in each of the provincial capitals of China) established, so that the silver will get to the places where it has been needed for a century.

"China will absorb by hoarding at least 1,000,000,000 ounces as fast as it can be delivered. It will take at least 2,000,000,000 ounces to even approach the needs of China, and only when you have got up to double that amount will there be any actual indication of saturation.

"The Senate resolutions are the most important foundations of legislation which we have ever known, for it will not only bring us into a close and intimate alliance with the most powerful civilization on the globe, but it will prevent China from being driven into the arms of Soviet allurments and charms. Russia will do anything to get this prize of Chinese alliance. But we have the first chance, and you bet that we are going to take it whole-heartedly."

Union League Club Arranges for Bar

New York Republicans Expect Repeal Soon of Dry Amendment.

New York, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—The New York Times today said the Union League Club had made provision for a bar in its new clubhouse with the expectation that the prohibition law soon would be repealed. The membership is composed largely of Republicans high in political and social life.

George W. Fraker, a member of the house committee, was quoted as follows: "We hope and expect to see prohibition end very soon. More than three-fourths of the Union League Club are active wets, and prohibition can not die any too soon for us."

More than 4,000 persons visited the clubhouse at its opening yesterday. Departures from the club's traditions include a dining room and smoking room exclusively for women and gymnastic equipment featuring mechanical horses.

Brothers Are Arrested On $240 Theft Charge

Charges of grand larceny and housebreaking were lodged against two young brothers yesterday who, according to Thirteenth Precinct police, admitted entering a Georgia avenue auto supply store Monday night and taking $240 in cash. The suspects are Milton A. Cramer, 22, and Luther W. Cramer, 19, both of Takoma Park, Md.

The younger brother was arrested at his home and shortly afterward the detective assigned to the case took into custody Milton at his place of employment. About $222 was recovered, police reported.

Underwood & Underwood.

Within a few days officials of the Washington Zoological Garden will formally dedicate the largest and finest reptile house in the world. There is only one other similar house, located at Amsterdam, Holland, and it lacks certain features which are included in the Capital house. Photo shows a view of one of the exhibit halls. Note the painted backgrounds in the glass walled cages, which will provide a natural environment for the occupants.

MEYER NOMINATION VOTE SLATED TODAY

Easy Confirmation Indicated Despite Opposition of Iowa Senator.

(Associated Press.)

The long-contested nomination of Eugene Meyer, of New York, to be governor of the Federal Reserve Board, will be voted on by the Senate today at 4 p. m. Indications last night were he would be confirmed with many votes to spare.

The nomination, pending since early December, but held up by a committee investigation, reached the floor for debate yesterday. After a speech of more than two hours by Senator Brookhart (Republican), Iowa, against confirmation, the Senate unanimously agreed to vote after four more hours discussion today.

Senator McNary, of Oregon, the assistant Republican leader, proposed the vote agreement, while Brookhart was in the midst of an assault on Mr. Meyer's service on the War Finance Corporation and Farm Loan Board. The Iowan will resume his speech today.

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, previously had joined the Republican chiefs in urging early action.

Senator Wagner (Democrat), New York, predicted not more than a dozen votes would be cast against confirmation.

Repeating many of the complaints against the New York financier made before a Senate banking subcommittee, Senator Brookhart asserted Mr. Meyer's principal qualification is that of a "stock gambler."

"The record discloses without contradiction that Meyer retired with a large fortune," he said.

Taking up Mr. Meyer's connections with the War Finance Corporation and Farm Loan Board, he charged the New Yorker with the being the "worst enemy of the farmers in the United States."

Senator Brookhart said the nominee discriminated against the small farm owners in pursuing his loan policy and did more to "depress land values than any other person or factor by manipulation of loan practices and foreclosure of mortgage lands."

The "Meyer influence" still was felt on the Farm Loan Board, he said, adding the nominee was a "dictator of the Farm Loan System."

Heflin Files Election Contest With Senate

(Associated Press.)

Formal contest was filed in the Senate yesterday by Senator Heflin, of Alabama, against the election of John H. Bankhead (Democrat), Alabama, to the seat now held by Senator Heflin.

He presented his petition in the Senate and at the same time offered a new resolution providing for the impounding of ballot boxes in the last election. Both the petition and resolution were referred to the Senate elections committee rather than to the special campaign funds investigating committee.

AUDIENCE APPLAUDS MADAME JERITZA

Leonid Bolotine, Violinist, and Kurt Ruhrseitz Assist Prima Donna.

Mme. Maria Jeritza, prima donna soprano of the Metropolitan Grand Opera Company, made her appearance in concert at Constitution Hall yesterday afternoon under the local management of Mrs. Wilson-Greene. This was the fifth concert in the Philharmonic series and one of the most notable of the group.

Mme. Jeritza was assisted in the concert by Leonid Bolotine, violinist, and Kurt Ruhrseitz was at the piano for both of the artists.

The program was a delightful combination of the classic operatic selections and German, French and English songs. Mme. Jeritza's diction in all these languages was satisfying. In the operatic arias she displayed the coloratura arts of a Metropolitan prima donna. They were the aria from the opera "Le Cid," by Massenet, and the aria of Maddialena, from Giordano's "Andrea Chenier."

No inconsiderable part of the general success of the program was contributed by the work of Mr. Bolotine, the assisting artist, whose violin playing was of a high rank. Mr. Bolotine produced a mellow singing tone, exhibited excellent qualities of bowing and double stopping, and in Gluck's "Melodie" and Brahm's "Intermezzo," specially arranged by Mr. Bolotine, the charm of his playing was most evident.

The audience was particularly pleased with Mme. Jeritza's rendition of a group fo German lieder.

SUICIDE IS VERDICT AS GAS KILLS GIRL

Miss Frances May Myers Dies at Residence in Silver Spring.

A certificate of death by suicide was issued last night in the death of Miss Frances May Myers, 21 years old, employe of a Washington department store, by Dr. H. H. Howlett, of Silver Spring, after a conference with State's Attorney Stedman Prescott.

The unconscious form of the girl, clad in pajamas was found sprawled beside a gas heater in the bathroom of the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William R. Maddox, 804 Richmond avenue, Silver Spring. Discovery of the body was made by her uncle when he returned home from work at the Navy Yard last night.

The uncle smelled gas when he entered the house and upon investigation found the girl on the bathroom floor. He called Dr. Howlett, who pronounced the girl dead. Police were not called for more than two hours after the discovery of the girl when Corp. Joseph Nolte, of the Silver Spring Substation responded to a call.

The girl left a note in which she gave the names of those she wanted as pallbearers and other funeral arrangements, but gave no reason for her act. Her uncle could attribute no reason. He said that while she went out with several men friends that he had known of none whom she cared especially for. She had been in good health and no other reason could be found for her act, but it was plainly suicide, in the opinion of police, and the attending physician.

The girl's home is in Round Hill, Va., where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Myers, reside. The parents last night could give no reason for the girl's taking her own life. She had not gone to work yesterday, although her uncle and aunt had expected her to do so when they left the house yesterday morning. Apparently she had planned the suicide early in the day and had made all of her apparel ready.

The body was removed to the Colonial funeral home at Rockville, Md. Funeral arrangements have not been completed. Her father arrived last night to assist in the funeral plans.

Condemnation Sought Of Two Triangle Hotels

Condemnation of two old-established hotels—the American House, at Seventh street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, and the Howard House, at Sixth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest—is sought in a petition filed yesterday in District Supreme Court by the Government. Several other pieces of property in the square designated as 461 also are sought.

Most of the property in addition to the two hotels is occupied by merchants. The Government has purchased much of the property in the square, but the Government has been unable to purchase that sought for condemnation. Assistant United States Attorney Henry H. Glassie and United States Attorney Leo A. Rover appear for the Government in the condemnation proceedings.

Sidley Drops Suits Against W. P. Bull

Divorced Husband of Horlick Heiress Gets Unstated Amount.

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Two law suits filed against W. Perkins Bull, Canadian barrister, by Dr. John Streeter Sidley, of Racine, Wis., were settled out of court today for an undisclosed sum.

Attorneys for Mr. Bull and for Dr. Sidley, the divorced husband of Mrs. Maybelle Horlick Sidley, heiress to the malted milk millions, met and signed papers of dismissal. Master in Chancery James F. Harrold will be notified tomorrow that the cases are closed.

Mr. Bull had been designated as legal and business adviser to Mrs. Sidley. He was sued by Dr. Sidley for $250,000 on the charge that the doctor's health had been damaged because for three years Mr. Bull used private detectives to shadow him. Sidley also had filed a petition for an injunction against Mr. Bull.

Mr. Bull is in the General Hospital at Toronto, recovering from injuries suffered during a mysterious trip from Chicago to the Canadian border eight nights ago. At the hospital he said that certain "sinister" influences in Chicago had forced him from the city, but promised to return and "expose" his enemies.

Guests will be welcomed by Miss Mary C. Boland, grand regent of the organization.

CRIME'S PROMOTION CHARGED IN MOVIES

Box-Office Receipts Rather Than Morals Producers' Aim, Alliance Told.

Moving pictures as a serious factor in promoting crime and in creating disrespect for the Christian religion was the subject of an address last night before the Western section of the World Alliance of Presbyterian and Reformed Churches, in session at the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, by the Rev. Clarence Mackinnon, of Nova Scotia.

Mr. Mackinnon declared that the avowed intention of the moving picture industry is to produce pictures which will induce the largest box-office receipts, without a thought for the moral value to the public.

"Never have our noblest Christian ideals been in greater peril from the inside," he declared. "Think of the Chicago Censor Board being compelled to strike out, in one year, 404 scenes of hangings and horrors, 929 immodest postures, 757 attacks on women."

Yesterday's sessions of the conference were mainly given over to the hearings of reports from the executive committees, including those on publicity, ministerial relief and service pension, finance and history. At last night's session there was an address by the Rev. George W. Richards, of Lancaster, Pa., on "Messengers of Good Tidings."

Promotion of church unity holds an important place in the program of the conference, at which alliance members from the United States and Canada are in attendance. In this respect the conference and the organization are unique in that it is one of the few Protestant organizations which functions fully with the churches of Canada, not being confined to the United States.

The plea for more cooperation between missions and home functionings of the churches was the keynote of the speeches and reports made public by the speakers and chairmen.

This morning the session will include a discussion, led by the Rev. Lewis S. Mudge, on "The Future of the Western Section With Reference to the Powers Outlined in Section No. 7 of the Section By-Laws." There will be a report of the committee on Christian education and literature, and following this there will be two addresses, one by the Rev. David M. Sweets on "Essentials of Christian Education," and another by the Rev. Willard Dayton Brown on "The Various Methods of Student Aid."

The conference will last through tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. Daugherty Dies of Influenza

Was Mother of Former Attorney General; On Bond of Another Son on Trial.

Washington Court House, Ohio, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Mrs. Jane Daugherty, widowed mother of former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty and Mal S. Daugherty, who is on trial here for alleged misapplication of funds while president of the closed Ohio State Bank, died at her home early today. She was 95 years old.

Mrs. Daugherty, one of the signers of the $40,000 bond for her son, Mal, had been ill only four days from influenza and heart disease.

Indications were that the trial of Mal would be continued until after his mother's funeral. It was delayed late yesterday until this morning when Judge Charles S. Bell, who is hearing the case, learned of the seriousness of the banker's mother's illness. She had been a widow 67 years.

Van Ness Slaying Laid to Gangsters

Relatives Say Witness of Lingle Murder Tried to Escape Foes.

Asheville, N. C., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Relatives of L. G. P. Van Ness, alleged witness of the slaying of Jake Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter, today expressed the opinion that Mr. Van Ness was slain by gangsters who chased him from Chicago through Asheville to Westminster, S. C., and that his death was probably not suicide as was believed previously. Mr. Van Ness was found dead in a Westminster hotel. His throat had been slashed.

The murder theory was suggested to Asheville police by relatives at Tuxedo. Police at Westminster have been instructed to investigate the possibility that gangsters entered Mr. Van Ness' room Saturday night and killed him.

Meanwhile, funeral services for Mr. Van Ness were held today at Sewanee, Tenn., where the victim once was a student at the University of the South.

at 4:30 o'clock in the morning, just at the time the president, who is an early riser, was taking his bath. But, the soldier, who is alleged to have confessed to engineering the plot, was not aware that recent remodeling in the upper flood bath had left a protruding pipe in the air vent, narrowing its diameter by half.

Bomb Is Lowered.

Coming on guard 15 minutes before his midnight watch began, the soldier slipped to the vent unseen by two other guards pacing the other side of the roof, lowered the dynamite bomb and fixed the fuse to be lighted later.

Police said he later admitted he did not know the bomb had been halted in its downward descent by the obstruction left by the remodelers and that it had stopped 9 feet above the president's bath instead of being on a level with it. Later the soldier complained of illness, police said, secured a brief leave and took the opportunity thus afforded to light the bomb.

The dynamite charge partly wrecked the top floor bath and blew its plate glass to bits, embedding the fragments in the walls.

An investigation is under way to determine who, besides the soldier under arrest, as implicated in the plot.

Riots Are Quelled.

Miniature riots, apparently due to an attempted assassination, caused President Machado to halt his speech for a few minutes today as he was dedicating Cuba's new capitol building in connection with national independence day.

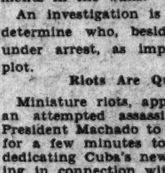
As the president neared the end of his address from the portico of the $18,000,000 capitol building, his voice amplified by loud-speakers to throngs assembled below, some youth, according to best accredited accounts, started to draw a pistol from his pocket.

Vigilant police instantly seized the youth but the incident caused a stir in front of the capitol. The scrambling and small riots which followed caused the president to halt his speech for a few minutes.

Soldiers and police quickly restored order. The Marine Band began to play the National anthem. Artillery guns boomed salute to the president. Quiet was restored and Machado went on.

FARM WOMAN BENEFITED

After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound



Lickdale, Pa.—"Before I was married, my mother and sister and I did all the farming work on a 64-acre farm for eleven years. I married a farmer and now in addition to my housework and the care of my children I help him with the outside work on our farm. After my last child was born, I began to suffer as many women do. Finally our family doctor told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did and now I am a new woman and I know that good health is better than riches."—Mrs. Clyde I. Whole Nation's Climate Reversed By Irrigation, Says Weather Seer

A shift in the path of storms that sweep across the country is attributed by one observer to the vast acreage of irrigated land in the far Southwest. Whereas major storms formerly came from the Northwest, many now sweep in from the Southwest.

Coral Gables, Fla., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Irrigation of Western arid lands is responsible for winter frosts in Florida, says E. B. Dunn.

"Farmer" Dunn, as he is known, was for many years a United States Weather Bureau observer at New York City.

In retirement here he continues his weather studies and believes he has definite evidence of a connection betwen irrigation in formerly dry Western valleys and something new developing in American weather.

"A gradual change in the weather of the United States began 35 years ago," he explains. "I got an inkling of the change back in the 90's, when I was compiling weather maps.

"In those days about 9 per cent of our storms passed into the United States from the Northern Pacific Ocean, over Oregon, the Dakotas, the Great Lakes and up the St. Lawrence River Valley.

"Then we had only about 4,300,000 acres under irrigation. Today we have approximately 22,000,000 acres under irrigation, and about 50 per cent of the storms enter from the South Pacific Ocean area.

"Instead of moving along the northerly course, these storms drive straight through the Mississippi Valley.

"The clouds dump their moisure on the Pacific slopes and then are attracted to the irrigated valleys as the nearest source of new energy. There they may pause for a few days gathering force.

"Sweeping eastward, they dip sometimes into Dixie, bringing rains and sometimes floods. In their wake come chills and frosts."

Although Dunn's explanation is different, the general location of the area he blames for the channel weather is approximately that in which unusual conditions now exist, to which the United States Weather Bureau has ascribed the present winter's freaks, with cold in the South and warmth in the Midwest. That cause is a blanket of heavy air which hovers over the Rockies.

The finger of frost was thrust far into the warm Florida Peninsula this winter. There have been more clouds also.

One newspaper which has a standing offer to distribute editions free every day the sun fails to shine found it necessary to make god on four days in succession, an almost unheard-of occurrence in Florida.

Former Head of American Cotton Manufacturers Is Heart-Attack Victim.

Danville, Va., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Harry R. Fitzgerald, cotton mill president and former head of the American Cotton Manufacturers Association, died early today following a heart attack. He was 58 years old.

He had been directly connected with the Riverside and Dan River mills, founded by his father, for more than 40 years. He was employed as office boy at 17 and 30 years later was elected president.

SENATE VOTES FUND FOR MEMORIAL ROAD

$2,700,000 Additional Cash for Mount Vernon Route Is Approved.

By unanimous vote the Senate yesterday passed the bill appropriating $2,700,000 for completion of the Mount Vernon boulevard, linking the new Arlington Memorial Bridge with the home of George Washington.

Senator Howell, of Nebraska, had opposed the measure for several weeks on the ground that officials of the Bureau of Public Roads had underestimated the total cost of the highway by at least 5 per cent. Senator Howell made it plain that he was not opposing construction of the ornamental boulevard, but thought the officials who went wrong on the estimates should be taught a lesson.

Senator Fess, of Ohio, urged prompt passage of the bill, saying the previous appropriation had been exhausted and unless additional funds were made immediately available work on the highway would be suspended. Any interruption to the construction work, Fess said, would mean that the boulevard would not be open in time for the George Washington Bicentennial next year.

Immediately after the Senate passed the measure it was transmitted to the House, where leaders were asked to facilitate its passage so as to complete the congressional authorization and pave the way for the $2,700,000 appropriation in the last deficiency bill.

Rumor of Retiring Denied by Lowell

Head of Harvard, Past 74, Says Published Report Is Not True.

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—President A. Lawrence Lowell, of Harvard University, today denied a story published by the Boston Post to the effect that he plans to retire at the close of the academic year ending in June, 1932.

The denial was issued through the university offices and was confined to the bare statement that the report was untrue. President Lowell has declined newspaper interviews for many years.

The Post said Dr. Lowell intended to submit his resignation shortly in order to give the university plenty of time in which to choose a successor. He will be 75 years old in December.

Court Takes Away Pergler Mandate

Inquiry in Czechoslovakia Reveals Former Envoy to U. S. Is American.

Prague, Czechoslovakia, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—A Czechoslovakian court today canceled the parliamentary mandate of Karl Pergler, former Minister to the United States, on the ground that he was an American citizen.

Inquiries revealed that Herr Pergler, who emigrated in 1906 to Cedar Rapids, Iowa, had been naturalized an American and that his citizenship had never been revoked.

He met President Masaryk of Czechoslovakia, in the United States in 1918 and became his secretary, later being named minister to Washington and then at Tokyo. Recalled from Tokyo, he became an opponent of President Masaryk and when he was elected to parliament joined the opposition to the government.

going with her children to Arlington County to live with friends.

Since then reconciliation attempts had been made by her, according to testimony, but Duvall allegedly refused to have anything further to do with his wife, although willing to shelter and support the children, most of whom are not yet full grown.

Last Saturday Mrs. Duvall returned to Hoadley with several of their children to try once more to patch up their domestic differences. The prohibition officer, became abusive, she said, and she took her brood to the brother's home nearby for refuge.

Discovering their whereabouts early last night the husband left for his brother's house. The men both of whom were armed according to testimony offered at the inquest met on a highway. Each apparently was aware of the other's intentions.

There was the flash of gunfire. Richard H. Duval lay dead in the road.

The brother is expected to plead self-defense.

good will and the two Associated Press memberships held by the Morning and Evening Worlds.

Frederick D. Fuller, banker representative of the Pulitzer estate, said it was "a marvelous offer." His own valuation of the property was $800,000 odd for the good will and "between $400,000 and $500,000 apiece for the Associated Press memberships. More specifically he valued the latter at $480,000 apiece.

What will become of the Morning World, one of the famous newspapers of the United States, under the sale was not announced, but it was indicated its publication would be discontinued and the purchasers would publish only one evening newspaper, as now—unless perhaps it were found possible also to publish a Sunday morning edition.

DRY ACT IS UPHELD BY SUPREME COURT

18th Amendment Held Valid and Legal, Overruling Clark Decision.

Clark ruling were asking the court to hold that article 5 "means something different from what it plainly says."

"The United States asserts," he added, "that article 5 is clear in statement, contains no ambiguity and calls for no resort to rules of construction. A mere reading demonstrates that this is true."

The opinion was clearly phrased and Justice Roberts had delivered but a few sentences before its meaning was apparent. The spectators who filled every seat in the semicircular room, however, listened intently until the conclusion:

"The order of the court below is reversed."

Hughes Not Participant.

Chief Justice Hughes, however, did not participate in the case. He withdrew, because he had taken a minor part in the national prohibition cases in 1920. The court decided then that the prohibition amendment was a valid part of the Constitution.

In view of that opinion, the ruling yesterday was regarded as a foregone conclusion. That, however, did not prevent it from attracting more attention than any case in recent years.

A group of attorneys, including Selden Bacon, Julius Cohen and Austen Fox, of New York, had believed for years that the amendment was unconstitutional because of its mode of ratification. They represented without charge William H. Sprague and William J. Howey, the almost forgotten defendants in the case. The two had been charged with transportation and possession of liquor.

Although the liquor laws were the foundation of the case, liquor had no place in the argument. It centered upon the adoption of the Constitution and its interpretation. The names of Madison, Jefferson and others who framed it were frequently mentioned.

Hits Opposing Contensions.

Justice Roberts said of the opposing contentions:

"They say that if the legislatures were considered incompetent to surrender the people's liberties when the ratification of the Constitution itself was involved, they are incompetent now to make a further grant.

"The Constitution was written to be understood by the voters," he added, "its words and phrases were used in their normal and ordinary as distinguished from their technical meaning; where the intention is clear there is no room for construction and no excuse of interpolation or addition.

"If the framers of the instrument had any thought that amendments differing in purpose should be ratified in different ways, nothing would have been simpler than to phrase Article 5 as to exclude implication or speculation."

There was a brief flurry as Justice Roberts finished and then the courtroom grew silent again for the delivery of another opinion.

STIMSON DECLINES TO AIR ITALIAN ROW

ian language newspapers in this country, "under the control of De Martino," were guilty of the rankest sedition in connection with the Butler-Mussolini incident.

"The United States and its people," according to the resolution, were made to appear as inferior in every respect, and the apology given by the Government was said to have been due absolutely to the fear this Government entertains of the Fascists and Mussolini."

The resolution further charged that the Fascist government has honeycombed the United States with spies of the Italian secret police.

The resolution concluded with a request that Ambassador De Martino be "declared persona non grata by this Government and requested to leave the country, and further to make due apology for the abuse by him of the hospitality of the United States and the privileges and immunities of his diplomatic rank."

Dinner Tendered Visitors.

In addition to Dr. Fama, who is chairman of the Defenders of the American Constitution, the delegation which came here yesterday included Joseph Liberto, president of the Italian World War Veterans' League; Luigi Antoninia, vice president of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union; Girolemo Valenti, general manager of Il Nuovo Mondo, an Italian daily newspaper, and the Rev. Amedeo M. Riggio, pastor of the Christ Methodist Episcopal Church in Newark, N. J. Here in Washington the delegation was joined by the Rev. M. C. Marseglia, pastor of the Church of the Redeemer.

Last night, the visitors were tendered a dinner by local sympathizers, after which they started back for New York.

FINAL TRIBUTE PAID TO WIDOW OF DEWEY

Body Is Laid to Rest in Bethlehem Chapel Beside That of Husband.

The comforting words of the office for the burial of the dead resounded through the Gothic arches of Bethlehem Chapel of Washington Cathedral yesterday when Mrs. George Dewey, widow of the hero of the battle of Manila, was given sepulcher beside the body of her distinguished husband in the cathedral crypt.

The burial service was read by the Right Rev. James E. Freeman, D. D., Bishop of Washington, assisted by the Very Rev. G. C. F. Bratenahl, dean of Washington.

Like the brief service at the Dewey home, which preceded the cathedral rites, the service in Bethlehem Chapel was private and was attended only by Mrs. Dewey's relatives and intimate friends, representatives of the Navy and organizations with which Mrs. Dewey had been affiliated during her lifetime. Capt. Charles R. Train, U. S. N., represented President Hoover.

Honorary pallbearers were Admiral Spencer Wood, former aid-de-camp to Admiral Dewey; Admirals Frank B. Upham, Hugh Rodman, David W. Taylor, Henry V. Butler and Maj. Gen. Dion Williams, U. S. M. C.

George G. Dewey, stepson of Mrs. Dewey and only son of Admiral Dewey, was among the relatives who assembled for the last rites.

The many beautiful floral tributes included a wreath from the Bishop of Washington, dean and chapter of Washington Cathedral, another from the Woman's Naval Service and National Service Schools, of which Mrs. Dewey had been honorary head and which were represented at the cathedral service by a delegation headed by Mrs. Gibson Fahnestock, honorary commandant of these organizations, and a floral anchor given by all the officers who served with Admiral Dewey, May 1, 1898.

After the congregation had withdrawn Mrs. Dewey's remains were placed beside the body of her husband in the cathedral crypts in the presence of members of her family only. This was in accordance with her stipulated request which was granted at the time she removed Admiral Dewey from Arlington after permission for his interment in Washington Cathedral as a trustee of the cathedral had been secured by her from the Cathedral Chapter.

Einstein Pleased With Visit to U. S.

Terms Trip to California "Greatest Expedition Into Space."

Pasadena, Calif., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Albert Einstein regards his visit to California as the greatest expedition into space and into matter he has ever taken. He expressed this thought today at a luncheon given at the Pasadena Chamber of Commerce.

"Let me vouchsafe today thanks to the extraordinary group of scholars in the field of physics and astronomy who have accorded me glimpses of their work," said the German professor.

"They have conducted me not only into the world of atoms and crystals, but also to the surface of the sun and into the uttermost depths of space.

"There I saw worlds which are flying away from us with incomprehensive rapidity in spite of the fact their inhabitants do not know us well enough to justify any such action."

Aznar Is Opposed By Spanish Party

Constitutionalists Declare Projected Parliament Not Representative.

Madrid, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Uncompromising opposition to the Aznar government was voted tonight by the Constitutionalist party.

While the party did not clearly state whether it would refrain from participation in the elections planned by Premier Aznar, it characterized the projected Parliament as a body not representative of the people.

The statement reiterated the Constitutionalist contention that the only remedy for Spain's political problems is a constitutional convention composed of all parties to decide, without intervention by the king, whether Spain is to continue as a monarchy or become a republic.

Hoover Indorses Praise of Legge.

Spokane, Wash., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—President Hoover in a letter received today by three Pacific Northwest farm magazines expressed his "entire agreement" with the views of the publications expressed in a telegram February 19 praising the services of Alexander Legge and expressing hope he could be persuaded to remain as Federal Farm Board chairman.

THREE-CENT SCHOOL FARE SLATED SOON

Book of Ten Tickets Will Be Sold; Transfers Are Not Yet Decided.

be void unless accompanied by this stub.

The 3-cent fare which has been agreed upon, though not formally adopted by the commission, is the maximum rate permitted under the revised measure adopted by both the House and the Senate.

Various colors will be used to distinguish the tickets issued for use on bus lines and those sold for passage on the street railways. While there was no question of interline transfers, the problem of intraline transfers has not yet been settled, Gen. Patrick said.

There is only one point, he said, where transfers might be required between bus and street car lines, and that is at Colorado avenue and Fourteenth street northwest. This concerns the Washington Rapid Transit Co. No transfers are necessary between the Washington, Marlboro & Annapolis Motor Lines, Inc., and any other company.

Though no definite decision has been reached regarding transfers between the Capital Traction Co. and the Washington Railway & Electric Co., the inference of Gen. Patrick's announcement was that there will be none.

Pupils who have been paying double fare to attend Eastern High School by riding on both the Washington, Marlboro & Annapolis Motor Lines from Northeast Washington and the Capital Traction Co. line will continue to pay two fares under the new plan, as no transfers will be issued.

Under the plan to be proposed this morning to Assistant Superintendent Stephen Kramer, the list of pupils to whom the reduced fare would be available would be prepared by the school and certified by the teacher. A similar scheme would apply to the parochial schools.

While the bill as passed makes no limitation on the classes of school children, the commission intends to make the reduced fare applicable only to public and parochial school pupils, Gen. Patrick said. He gave no explanation, however, for the limitation.

The list of pupils would be revised each month by school teachers upon presentation by the transportation companies. A careful check would be kept of each purchase of tickets so as to prevent one pupil from buying more than considered necessary for his individual needs.

The special tickets will be valid, so far as it can be controlled, only for passage to and from schools. Day pupils will be able to use them only from 7:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. on school days, while night pupils will utilize a different colored fare from 6:30 p. m. to 10:30 p. m. The tickets will not be good on holidays.

Some further details of operation remain to be worked out, Gen. Patrick said, and a large part of the plan depends upon whether school officials will accept the responsibility of issuing the tickets.

Present at the conference yesterday, besides Gen. Patrick and Harleigh H. Hartman, vice chairman of the commission, were representatives of both bus companies and both street car lines, Assistant Corporation Counsel William A. Roberts, and William McK. Clayton, chairman of the public utilities committee of the Federation of Citizens Associations. Maj. John C. Gotwals, Engineer Commissioner, was not in attendance.

Los Angeles, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Another attempt by Daisy De Boe, former secretary of Clara Bow, film actress, to win a new trial of charges she stole $825 from the actress, failed today.

The motion was denied and her counsel announced he would appeal to higher courts. Miss De Boe is confined to jail here, a previous attempt to obtain bail having failed.

Funds Are Urged For Sewer Study

Chamber Committee Advocates Survey, Including Modern Disposal Plant.

An appropriation in the next District budget to defray the cost of an investigation of sewerage disposal in the Greater Washington area was urged by the public health committee of the Washington Chamber of Commerce yesterday.

The committee recommended that particular reference be given to the purification of streams for beautification as well as for sanitary purposes. Such a survey, it was further agreed, should include a plan for a modern sewerage disposal plant to supersede the present "dumping method."

Attention was called to the polluted condition of the several waterways in the District. John Blake Gordon, District sanitary engineer, told of efforts made to prevent or alleviate this pollution. The committee reached the conclusion that when the population of Washington is 800,000 resort to artificial purification methods will be imperative.

HUSBAND RAPS SUIT TO ANNUL WEDDING

Blames Marital Troubles on Mother-in-Law; Denies Perjury Over Age.

Answering the petition of his wife, Mrs. Edith Virginia Starnes, of Thirty-seventh street northwest near Upton street, for an annulment, Leo Wiley Starnes, of Wisconsin avenue northwest near Tunlaw road, yesterday blamed all their marital difficulties on his mother-in-law and asked the District Supreme Court to dismiss his wife's suit.

Mrs. Starnes, in her petition filed last week, charged that her husband had perjured himself when they were married last June 6. She declared that at the time she was only 17 years old and that she had not obtained her mother's consent to her marriage.

Starnes asserts that his wife represented her age as 18 to him and a number of their friends. He also states that she saw the marriage license application and was aware that her age had been given as 18. In addition, he states that she has been employed at a number of establishments on her statements that she was 18 years old.

Starnes also declares that the wife's mother knew all about the wedding, asserting that the ceremony was held in her home and that she not only arranged a reception, but also loaned them her automobile for a honeymoon trip. Attorney John L. Chapman, jr., appears for the husband.

Marine Indicted On Robbery Count

Cline R. Teegarden Held in Assault and Theft of $6 and Auto.

Cline Ray Teegarden, a marine, was indicted yesterday by the District grand jury on charges of assault with a dangerous weapon and robbery.

Teegarden is alleged to have assaulted and robbed William B. Lumsden, of Raleigh, N. C., shortly after midnight on February 2. Lumsden told police he had been struck over the head and robbed of $6 in money and an automobile valued at $500.

The victim declared he had been entrapped, stating that as he was about to enter his hotel he was attracted by a woman. At that point, he said, Teegarden approached and asked if he would like a date. Lumsden told police he assented and that when he and Teegarden and the woman were driving in his car on the outskirts of the city he was slugged in the head.

Day, of Montana, and Barton Smith, of Ohio, were chosen for terms of one year each.

The nominating committee was composed of Don J. Sargent, Harry McCheney and James W. McClendon. The meeting was attended by 38 grand masters and 122 other members of the fraternity, many holding high office in his respective State.

The formal dedication of the $5,000,000 temple will be held in the second week in May, 1932. The contract will be let shortly for the installation of the heating and ventilating systems.

The road and grade work will start in the late spring and is expected to cost in the neighborhood of $60,000. The windows will be in the nature of memorials. Contributions received to date have brought the total up to more than $3,400,000.

Memorials were adopted to members of the association who have died in the past year, among them Chief Justice William Howard Taft, who was a member of the advisory board; William S. Farmer, of New York, one of the directors; Admiral George W. Baird, retired, U. S. Navy, of the advisory board, and Frank S. Harmon, of Ohio, also a director.

Grand Master Herbert Dean, of Massachusetts, headed the delegation that visited Mount Vernon and placed a wreath on the tomb of Washington.

Thomas Violette, 66 years old, died Monday night in the Masonic Hospital, Charlottesville, and besides his wife, Mrs. Elsie A. Violette, is survived by two sons, Charles H. and Martin Violette; a sister, Mrs. C. H. Wells, of St. Albans, W. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon from the home, 401 Luray avenue, conducted by the Rev. Dr. E. V. He was a member of Andrew Jackson Lodge of Masons, Mount Vernon Royal Arch Chapter and Potomac Lodge of Odd Felows.

The deceased is survived by a brother, James Upton, and four sisters, Mrs. Annie Snoots and Mrs. Merryman, of this city; Mrs. Wade, of Pennsylvania, and Mrs. Mamie Barkely, of Charles County, Md.

Wheeler, of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. of Washington delivered a talk on the by-products of the Bell Telephone Laboratories at the meeting of the Rotary Club, held last night at the George Mason Hotel, with Lawrence E. Roland, manager of the Alexandria telephone office, as program chairman. The outstanding feature of the program was a demonstration conducted by H. J. Odenthal and Elmore Brown, demonstration director, showing how talking pictures are made, communication by telephone from an airplane and an electric stethoscope.

The Alexandria Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a dinner tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock in the George Mason Hotel in honor of Ward T. Van Orman, vice president of the International Transport Corporation. Dan S. Hollenga, business manager of the chamber, is in charge of arrangements.

The Alexandria United Charities has issued an appeal for funds to carry on its work, as the demands are unusually heavy and recent contributions have only amounted to $146.44.

Two policemen were ordered dismissed yesterday by the District Commissioners upon recommendation of the Police Trial Board. C. E. Kelly, of the Eighth Precinct, was discharged for threatening the life of his commanding officer and for making untruthful statements to him.

L. E. Batchelor, of the Fourteenth Precinct, was dismissed for firing six bullets into the home of Lieut. E. T. Harney, of Harbor Precinct, his father-in-law, after having been refused permission to see his wife. A child was injured at the time.

Kelly was for many years a pitcher on the policemen's baseball team. Neither policeman appealed from the ruling of the board.

Job Seekers Hear Warning of U. S.

Hunters Are Asked Not to Come Here Unless Assured of Work.

Out-of-town Government job-seekers were warned not to come to Washington unless they have definite assurances of a position, the Civil Service Commission declared in a statement issued last night.

The commission pointed out that the city is filled with men and women, who have come here after passing examinations for Government jobs, in the false belief that they would receive a position. The commission declared that very often candidates for positions do not get them even though they have passed with a high rating.

The action of the commission was taken after a consultation with the District committee on employment had cited many specific instances where unemployed adults had come here expecting Government jobs and had stayed to increase the ranks of the idle.

Fight Fat In Your Doctor's Way

He Knows What's Right

Physicians the world over now employ a new method of treating obesity. It is based on modern science, and aims to correct the cause. No starvation, no over-exercise, no harmful drugs.

The reason is this: Medical research has found a great cause of obesity in a weakened thyroid gland. That gland largely controls nutrition. Its secretion helps turn food into fuel and energy. When that secretion is scant, too much food turns to fat.

So physicians now feed the factor that is lacking. That is one great reason why excess fat is so much less common than it used to be.

Used in Marmola

Marmola prescription tablets supply this needed factor in ideal combination. A world-famous medical laboratory prepares them to fit the average case. A book in each box gives the formula complete and explains the results. The purpose is to supply this new method, at a modest price, to all who are over-fat.

Marmola has been used for 24 years—millions of boxes of it. Users have told others the results, and the use has spread. It has for two decades held top place in this field.

Now you see the results wherever you look. Your own friends can tell you of them. Excess fat has been disappearing at a rapid rate in late years.

Avoid the Fraud

During all this time, many false treatments have been offered for obesity. Some were harmful, some absurd. One by one they have dropped out as users found them false. But others have come under new names.

But Marmola has stood the test of time, because it offers the right way to reduce. The use has grown and grown as users proved it out. Let these facts guide you. Don't be misled. You cannot grow slender without harm and much effort, unless you correct the real cause of obesity.

Do what modern doctors do

Fat is Abnormal

Excess fat is a blight to beauty, health and vim. To those who know it suggests an abnormal condition. It over-taxes hearts, shortens lives, it quells vitality and vim. Half life's joys are missing to the fat.

Be moderate in all things, but don't starve, don't over-exercise. Such methods often bring injury. Combat the cause in an easy way, as multitudes are doing. Simply take a Marmola tablet four times daily, until weight comes down to normal.

Watch the New Vim

As weight comes down, watch the new vitality, new vim. Not only because you lose the burden of fat, but for other reasons. Other ductless glands depend on the thyroid for activity. So this simple help may bring many amazing results.

Go try Marmola. A nine-day treatment costs $1 at drug stores. Read the book in the box. When Marmola does for you what it has done for so many, tell others about it. Go start today.

COUNTY BOARD GETS BILL IN BRADY TRIAL

Prince Georges Part of Cost Amounts to $1,446 for Bombing Case.

A bill for nearly $1,500, partial cost of the latest Brady trial in Annapolis, was presented to the board of county commissioners of Prince Georges County at their meeting yesterday.

The bill for $1,446.75 was submitted by the clerk of the Circuit Court of Anne Arundel County, and covers the feeding and transportation of witnesses. The trial resulted in a verdict of guilty and a sentence of ten years for Leroy Brady on a charge of second-degree murder. Leroy's brother, Herman, was freed when similar charges were nolle prossed. The two were accused of the bombing which resulted in the death of Herman's young wife and two other persons on New Year's Day, 1930.

The commissioners appointed Henry A. Friday, of Lanham, chairman of a road committee, to report on the necessity for a road from Hillmead Station to Rigoll Station. Others on the committee are William Kreitzer and L. C. Donaldson.

C. F. Winslow, district forester for southern Maryland, appeared to ask the board to appropriate $600 for the construction of a fire tower at Springfield, on the Pennsylvania Railroad. The matter was taken under consideration.

The total cost of the tower will be about $2,500, of which the State will furnish $1,000, and Anne Arundel County $400. Private citizens who have timber land in the territory to be protected have donated $164.10.

The new tower will supplement the ones at Muirkirk and Brandywine. Early in 1930 money for the construction was obtained from State funds, but the large number of forest fires fought last summer depleted the sum so that the tower could not be built.

A delegation appeared to ask the Commissioners to appropriate $2,000 for opening of a road from the District line to Suitland, and the matter was taken under consideration.

Senator Lansdale G. Sasscer, who was injured when his horse fell Sunday, probably will not be able to leave Emergency Hospital this week, his physician, Dr. William B. Marbury, said yesterday. While his injuries are said to be not serious, they are painful enough to keep him from his duties as Democratic floor leader in the State Legislature.

It was at first thought that Senator Sasscer would be able to leave the hospital in time to attend the session last night of the Senate. Dr. Marbury, a cousin of the injured man, said that he could not say definitely when the senator would be able to leave the institution.

The legislator was riding with Benjamin H. Bowie near Marlboro when the accident occurred. He put his horse at a fence, but the animal failed to clear the bar, and fell with the senator.

Miss Agnes Duvall, county social welfare worker, and two young girls who were riding with her narrowly escaped death yesterday morning when their car rolled down a bank and turned over on a road near Nottingham.

Passengers in the machine were Rebecca Duvall, 14 years old, of Naylor, a niece, and Mildred Downing, of Nottingham. They were bruised but not otherwise injured. Both the girls are students at the Marlboro High School.

The car rolled off a new road, down a bank, landing in the old road right-side up but pointing in the opposite direction. Miss Duvall, who lives in Nottingham, was able to drive the machine away after the crash.

Miss Duval said she turned out for another machine, driven by Willie Ford, colored, when the soft shoulder of the road gave way, precipitating her machine down the incline.

Approximately $800,000 worth of new property in Prince Georges County will be added to the levy this year, according to Thomas W. Baxter, county tax assessor, but this will be partially offset by property on which an insolvency will be declared. The usual amount of new property is $1,000,000 or more, Mr. Baxter said.

The "bottleneck" at Rhode Island avenue and the Baltimore boulevard in Hyattsville will be eliminated, according to Daniel Cox Fahey, jr., chairman of the road committee of the chamber of commerce, who had a conference with officials of the State roads commission. Details of the change, which will necessitate tearing down a building on the corner, were not given out.

At present, the 40-foot avenue and the 50-foot boulevard meet just where a projecting building narrows the roadway to 18 feet. The corner will be widened to 34 feet, it is said. A third street, Johnson avenue, which intersects at this meeting point, further complicates the situation by adding another stream of traffic.

Mr. Fahey's report was made at a recent meeting of the chamber, when he was elected to fill the post of vice president. His predecessor, Dr. Ira K. Atherton, died shortly after his election. B. W. Anspon was elected associate national councilor to succeed Fahey.

The chamber has appointed M. T. May, chairman of the committee on public utilities, to represent the town's interest at a hearing in Baltimore today on the Seaboard Investment Trust Co.'s application to take over the stock and bonds of the Washington Suburban Gas Co., of Hyattsville.

The Seaboard Co., of Boston, controls the Washington Gas Light Co. and other gas companies in the neighborhood. The name of the operating company is to be changed to the Washington and Suburban companies. Residents of Hyattsville are watching the negotiations with a great deal of interest, as George A. G. Wood, president of the Washington company, has said that lower rates for gas in the county will follow the change in ownership.

Possibility that the Mount Rainier Citizens Association might wage a fight on the proposed amendments to the town charter of that community was removed at a meeting of the association Monday night. The association had objected to the provision that the mayor and councilmen be paid $200 and $125, respectively, annually. A compromise was reached whereby the citizens will not object if the amendments are drafted so as to avoid any increase in taxes.

The association also went on record as opposing any extension of the park system at this time, and sent a resolution to this effect to the county's delegation in the State Legislature. It claims that the time is inopportune for the purchase of lands for parks. Another resolution adopted protests against the pruning or cutting down of shade trees by those not officially delegated to do the work.

BYRD SAYS PARTY DEFERS DRY ISSUE

National Democratic Body Not to Shape Policies Now, Virginian Declares.

Special to The Washington Post.

Raleigh, Feb. 25.—Former Gov. Byrd, who is here on the invitation of the General Assembly of North Carolina to make an address on the reorganization of government, when asked as to the probable action of the Democratic national committee meeting on March 5 in adopting a party policy on prohibition, said that as a national committeeman from Virginia he would strongly oppose such a proposal. He said:

"As a member of the Democratic national committee, I can not believe that the committee at the meeting on March 5 will adopt a resolution to fix, or lead by a committee declaration, the party's position on prohibition.

"The Democrats have invested the national committee with a general guardianship over the affairs of the party, but as the creature of the national convention the committee should assume no authority not specifically granted by its creator.

Policies Up to Representatives.

"It is a fundamental principle that the policies of the Democratic party are fixed by representatives coming from the precincts up to the State conventions and thence to the national convention. Democrats may instruct these representatives how to vote on vital and defined issues, or they may select servants they are willing to trust to translate the prevailing views of their State into platform declarations, but no member from any State on the national committee is the keeper of the political conscience of his State party, or has any mandate, implied or otherwise, to so speak.

"Democrats instinctively resent dictation, and dislike prearrangement of party declarations to be proclaimed as a test of party fealty. For the committee to usurp such authority would not only divide the party but would violate a fundamental principle of representative government by parties. The practical operation and development of our Government has been through responsible political parties. If important party principles are adopted by a small group and the members of the party denied a voice, then government by party becomes a mockery.

Issues May Be Discussed.

"Of course, it is proper that the national committee should informally discuss and consider the probable issues of the next presidential campaign; but no effort should be made by the committee or its officials to commit the party to a particular position on prohibition or any other major issue unless the Democratic convention has heretofore declared itself.

"In the orderly and customary course of selection of delegates, discussion clarifies the public sentiment of different sections of the country and brings to the national convention delegates representative of the preponderant sentiment of each section. When the party position is proclaimed in national convention by these duly elected agents, it should be the best reflection available of the wisest platform to adopt.

"Whatever may be the position of the Democratic Party on prohibition in 1932, our national convention is the voice of the party and can speak with full authority after the opinions of all are considered and duly represented by the orderly election of delegates.

"With the Democratic Party united, our success in 1932 is assured as clearly as any political action can be forecast. Mr. Hoover has pathetically failed to meet his problems. He will be renominated, because to do otherwise the Republican Party must repudiate their own record for four years. He will go before the country with broken pledges as his platform. He will be denied the worn-out plea that the Republican Party is the custodian of prosperity, and can no longer escape responsibility for conditions Republican policies have certainly in large measure created and which they have done nothing to correct."

Larceny Laid to Broker.

SCHOOL FUND DRIVE GETS $10,000 BOOST

Blackstone Area's Quota in $500,000 Drive Is Accepted.

Blackstone, Va., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Of the $500,000 goal set for Blackstone College for Girls, $10,000 was accepted as the quota for the Blackstone community, at a recent meeting in which educational, religious, and business leaders of the town participated.

The entire community was taking an active interest in putting the Blackstone School on a sound basis, President W. B. Gates reported, and campaign leaders were expecting to receive a contribution from every home in the town.

The College's effort to raise a half-million dollars has a three-fold purpose, Lawrence C. Sullivan, local chairman for the campaign, and Vernard C. Via, director of endowment, said. The money will be used to liquidate the remaining debt for modern fire-proof buildings, to increase the endowment to a point that would insure permanency, and to provide for necessary expansion.

Frederick Saves Water By Economy Reforms

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., Feb. 24.—Following an inspection of the water department, lasting three weeks, during which water fixtures in 4,000 buildings and street mains were examined, announcement was made today that a saving of 600,000 gallons of water per day had been effected.

Prior to the inspection the daily consumption was 2,000,000 gallons. Yesterday's consumption fell to 1,400,000 gallons. Water in the 60,000,000-gallon reservoir went up more than 1 foot in depth. The depth is still 7 feet below the normal.

PRESIDENCY ENDANGERED.

The House of Representatives has finally achieved the remarkable feat of matching the Senate in fashioning foolish legislation. It has passed the so-called "lame duck" resolution, originally proposed by Senator Norris, of Nebraska. A similar resolution having passed the Senate, it is assumed that the differences will be adjusted in conference and the resolution transmitted to the President. If he should veto it the legislatures would be saved much trouble and the possible blunder of ratifying it.

Practically all that the country knows of this resolution is that it proposes that a new Congress shall meet a few weeks after election, instead of waiting until the following December. By meeting in January following the election, the "lame duck" session would be eliminated. It is urged that the country has a right to speedy action after an election, and that members who have failed of reelection should not be permitted to legislate in a hold-over session of Congress.

If this were the only effect of the proposed change, the only resulting damage would be precipitate and ill-digested legislation, the aftermath of campaign excitement. Considering what is now endured, the country probably would survive the flood of new and unnecessary laws enacted by inexperienced legislators fresh from the hustings. But the resolution goes much further than this.

It is proposed that the term of Congress shall begin on January 4, and that the term of the President shall begin on January 24. Only twenty days are allowed for the organization of the House, the canvassing of the electoral vote by Congress in joint session, the declaration of the result, and the inauguration of the President. The House can not act, and therefore Congress can not meet in joint session until a Speaker has been elected. A deadlock over the election of Speaker of the House might result in a vacancy in the Presidency.

In 1849 the House was deadlocked for nineteen days, electing Howell Cobb after 62 ballots. In 1855 the House was deadlocked through December, and not until February 2, 1856, after 137 ballots, was Nathaniel P. Banks elected Speaker. In 1859-60 the House was deadlocked two months before it elected William Pennington Speaker.

The term of an outgoing President can not be prolonged for one hour. The tranquillity and safety of the United States depend upon the orderly and certain transfer of the Presidency from one man to another. The constitutional convention took extraordinary pains to provide for the certain installation of the President. This problem caused more debate than any other in the creation of the United States Government.

Under the existing system Congress is always organized and ready to meet in joint session to count the electoral vote and declare the result. The House is always organized to elect a President if that duty should fall upon it. The choice and installation of a President on March 4 is made as certain as human will can make it.

Under the "lame duck" resolution there is no certainty that Congress will be organized in time to count the electoral vote; no certainty that the House will be in a position to elect a President in case the electors fail to elect; and no certainty that a President will be inaugurated.

The twenty days intervening between the assembling of a new Congress and inauguration day would offer opportunities for preventing organization of the House, except upon delivery of the Presidency to a bloc or political party. The temptation to resort to corruption in the House and Senate, with the Presidency as the prize, would be wide open.

Thus the so-called "lame duck" resolution is a proposal to insure uncertainty in the inauguration of the President, and to make probable a vacancy in the Presidency.

This resolution ought to be vetoed by President Hoover. If he should approve it, three-fourths of the legislatures must approve it before it becomes part of the Constitution. If the legislatures possess even a shred of the political wisdom which the makers of the Constitution possessed 144 years ago they will refuse to ratify this resolution.

JUDGE CLARK OVERRULED.

The Supreme Court has swept away Judge William Clark's ruling on the eighteenth amendment to the Constitution by reiterating its decision rendered eleven years ago. It was a foregone conclusion that the court would not uphold the muddled reasoning which led the New Jersey judge to rule against the prohibition amendment. Any layman able to read the Constitution can see that his contention was without foundation. The attention given to this freak opinion has been all out of proportion to its merit.

Judge Clark ruled that the eighteenth amendment was invalid because it was ratified by the State Legislatures rather than by State conventions. His opinion was based on "the principles of political science" and his personal views as to what procedure should have been followed in ratifying the amendment. Because this amendment transfers to the Federal Government rights previously reserved to the people, he concluded, only conventions chosen directly by the people could ratify it. To sustain that fallacy it was necessary for him to contend that the plain language of the Constitution as to the methods of ratifying amendments was ambiguous. But the Supreme Court points to a number of other amendments involving a surrender of rights, which were ratified in the same way, and informs the lower court that the Constitution means what it says.

Congress is given a right to choose the method by which an amendment to the Constitution may be ratified. Congress chose to have the eighteenth amendment submitted to State Legislatures for that purpose. The Legislatures in more than three-fourths of the States ratified it. It is difficult to understand how a judge could fail to grasp these fundamentals. In effect the court has informed Judge Clark that he is unable to read and understand plain English.

If Judge Clark rendered his decision to attract attention to himself his effort has certainly been a success. Hereafter he will be known for the hopeless confusion of his reasoning on fundamental law.

THE MEMORIAL BOULEVARD.

The Senate voted yesterday to authorize an additional expenditure of $2,700,000 on the Washington Memorial Boulevard from Arlington Bridge to Mount Vernon. Senator Howell's obstructive amendment was defeated.

Objections from Senator Howell held up this measure until cessation of work on the project was threatened. His protest was not against the project itself, but against the estimates of engineers. It was originally estimated that the project would cost $4,500,000, but it is now apparent that an additional $2,700,000 will be necessary to complete it. Senator Howell heaps blame upon the Highway Commission because the cost will be greater than was expected.

It develops, however, that Congress approved the memorial boulevard bill before the route was selected. Later a route near the river was chosen with the consent of Congress. Some expensive fills had to be made, and the bridge work amounts to double the cost that was anticipated. Apparently the senator from Nebraska objected because the Highway Commission could not read the congressional mind. The statement of Senator Fess indicates that every change has had the sanction of Congress.

When Senator Howell's amendment to leave the fate of the boulevard in the hands of the Comptroller General was voted down he had to content himself with a meaningless provision that the Bicentennial Commission shall direct the full completion of the highway at a cost not to exceed $7,200,000. He has succeeded only in delaying the additional appropriation. This magnificent highway will be built in tribuate to Washington in spite of Senator Howell.

THE NAVAL BILL.

The Senate and House conferees on the naval appropriation bill are striving to reach an early agreement. There is no reason to fear that a deadlock will occur, but a more liberal spirit of give and take would be reassuring. The Senate can not expect all its amendments to be accepted by the House, but it can at least insist upon the amendment providing for new destroyers. In view of the postponement of the naval construction bill it is vitally necessary that the destroyer item be approved. All existing destroyers are reaching the age limit, and another year's postponement of construction would leave the Navy dangerously weak in this type of vessel. Chairman Hale and his colleagues are fully justified in standing to the last against the effort of Representative French and his followers to reduce the Navy to impotence in the name of economy.

The Senate amendment which proposes to turn navy yards into manufacturing establishments should be stricken out by the conferees. It is not good policy from the standpoint of national defense to make the Government a competitor of private enterprise. The most reliable method of maintaining elastic facilities for equipping the Navy as well as the Army to the fullest extent on short notice is to purchase supplies and equipment by contract awarded to the lowest responsible bidder. This system has proved its effectiveness in times of great stress.

The national defense act contemplates the utilization of all American industrial and manufacturing agencies in time of war, in such fashion as to enable the Government to draw enormous resources without depriving the people of peace-time necessities. The pending amendment goes contrary to this policy, by encouraging navy yards to attempt the impossible task of manufacturing all machinery, equipment and supplies needed by the Navy. Naturally, private concerns would be driven out of business if this plan were made effective, and the Navy in case of sudden emergency would be unable to procure vitally necessary equipment and supplies in the quantities needed for war operations.

Purely military requirements, such as big guns, can be provided for most suitably by Government manufacture, since private manufacturers could never be sure of obtaining orders sufficient to warrant vast investments in plants and equipment. But thousands of items of equipment and supplies produced commercially are required by the Navy, and it would be foolish for the Navy to attempt to manufacture these commercial products when private enterprise is already turning them out competitively at lower cost.

Senator Walsh believes that many prominent people in the United States want a dictatorship. Now who'll construe that as a derogatory remark about Mussolini?

Now that the data gathered by the Law Enforcement Commission have been sent to the Senate there will be 96 different versions of the status of prohibition.

The Goddess of Liberty is to be given her quadrennial bath. Here's another good job for lame ducks.

FRENCH BATTLE CRUISERS

By HECTOR C. BYWATER,
In London Letter to the Baltimore Sun.

After prolonged cogitation the French naval staff, according to a well-informed Paris correspondent, has definitely decided that France must make use of the 70,000 tons of capital ship replacement tonnage which was allotted to her under the Washington and London naval pacts. In reaching this important decision the authorities, as they readily admit, were influenced mainly by the German "pocket battleships," the first of which, Ersatz Preussen, may be ready for service by the end of next year. These ships, it will be remembered, combine the armament of a battleship (six 11-inch guns), with a cruiser speed of 26 knots and an immense radius of action, all these qualities being embodied in a vessel of 10,000 tons.

It has long been evident that the 10,000-ton treaty type cruiser, with an 8-inch battery is no match for an Ersatz Preussen. French naval experts, with their painful memories of the Goeben in the Mediterranean and their inability to trap that elusive ship, think they have special reason to fear the advent of the new pocket battleships.

Since the war strength of the national army could not be attained without the prompt arrival of the divisions stationed in northern Africa, and since these troops could not be shipped to France unless the sea routes were safe, the building of ships sufficiently powerful and speedy enough to neutralize enemy craft of the Ersatz Preussen type is regarded as a military necessity of the last importance.

To make assurance doubly sure the French experts have designed a "reply" type, which in fighting power will be immeasurably superior to the German ship. It is a battle cruiser of 23,333 tons and a speed of 28 knots. She will be steam driven, but to increase her radius of action a Diesel engine, for use at cruising speed, is to be installed. The armament, still under consideration, will consist of 13.4-inch guns, probably eight in number. Protection is to be as complete as possible and much more robust than that of the Ersatz Preussen. If the chamber can be persuaded to advance the money three of these battle cruisers are to be built before 1936.

That they will be constructed is highly probable, since the most thrifty Frenchman is ready to part with his money when there is any question of countering the German "menace."

For several reasons the French decision to resume the building of capital ships is of interest. Paris has long been the stronghold of antibattleship policy and its capitulation is a blow to the Jeune Ecole, whose principles of naval defense by light craft and submarines alone have thus been officially repudiated. The doctrinaires have been defeated by inexorable facts. Probably the "war game" board has played its part in bringing about this drastic change of policy, just as it was a weighty factor in confirming the admiralties of Britain, America and Japan in their resolve to retain their dreadnought squadrons.

Cruisers, fast destroyers, submarines and aircraft are formidable weapons, but their efficacy against highly mobile capital ships, even in narrow seas, has yet to be demonstrated. On the high seas mastodon must be met by mastodon and not by mosquito craft alone. A nation apprehensive for its safety can not afford to found its defensive system on theories, however plausible they may be.

The news from Paris follows on the heels of an announcement that Admiral Sir Herbert Richmond has been "shelved" by the British admiralty on account of his heretical views as to naval building policy. Sir Herbert, who is both a distinguished sailor and intellectual in the best sense of the word, is chief exponent of the modernist school is equivalent to the French Jeune Ecole—in British naval circles. He has long urged a return to small dimensions, and has recently gone on record as fixing the limit at 10,000 tons.

So far as I know, he is one of the very few British naval officers of high rank who takes that view. The majority, while acknowledging the enormous cost of a modern dreadnaught, point out the technical impossibility of incorporating in a 10,000-ton hull the combatant qualities in any degree comparable to those, say, of a Nelson,, a Maryland or a Nagato.

Albania is the hangnail of the Balkans.

Zog, king of Alabania, wears a three-letter name so that it can be tucked well within the border lines.

If that assassin's bullet had killed Zog, Albania might easily have been a third carbon copy of Sarajevo.

Jugoslav soldiers lean over, and watch Zog undress every night to see that not a mole has changed.

There, if your pencil doesn't cover it up, you will locate it almost surrounded by Jugoslavia.

If trouble starts, France will back Jugoslavia, and Mussolini will back Italy.

So, you see, Albania is free from any threat of outside military interference, just like Nicaragua.

But it is really under a virtual Italian protectorate, and is one of the tender, not to say tinder, spots of Europe today.

Albania is on the shore of the Adriatic. Get out your microscope and follow down the eastern shore until you are opposite the heel of Italy.

Italy, across the bay, has an expeditionary force always ready for quick transport if her toe hold is threatened.

Albania is the pee-wee golf course among nations beset with mental hazards enough to dismay a Premier B. Jones.

The Albanians are a thrifty people. They won't give up even the gentle customs handed down from their caye-man ancestors.

So, it is evident, Albania is harmless as a little hangnail, but which, if rudely disturbed, sometimes breeds infection.

Less than half the size of the State of Virginia, and with one-third Virginia's population, it has all the potentialities of the Dupont Powder Works.

It is not that Albania is gunning for the dove of peace, or wants to annex everything adjoining—it's just a little strategic spot surrounded by trouble.

The aim in life of the Albanians is not certain. A Chirackateer, who drew on a king and felled a secretary, would be ostracized from the best Lake Michigan mumble parlors for a week.

However, if the blood feud gets going well and the contending families represent a large enough percentage of the population, the last man may soon be sending for Edna Ferber to report the new settlement rush.

THE IDLE DONKEY.

A donkey, busy day by day,
Found little time or cause to bray,
But left alone the field to browse,
The neighborhood he'd soon arouse.

Turned loose, he'd kick his heels and race
And scatter ruin round the place;
By wandering where his fancy led,
He wrecked full many a flower bed.

Unbridled and untethered, he
In mischief always seemed to be.
At him the women used to shout
And run with brooms to shoo him out.

This idle donkey always found
The neighbors' raked and seeded ground;
And left to wander all day long,
Whate'er he thought to do was wrong.

Good people scarce will cast an eye
At busy donkeys passing by,
But idle donkeys running loose
No end of mischief will produce.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Virginia Approach to Arlington Memorial Bridge Should Be Constructed at Once.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Among the bills which should be passed before Congress adjourns is the Swanson-Moore bill providing for the approach to the Arlington Memorial Bridge on the Virginia side. The State Highway Commission of Virginia has announced its intention to begin construction of Lee Memorial Boulevard at Falls Church early in March and to construct it to the west side of Fort Myer to be ready for use by February 22, 1932. This boulevard is being constructed as the arterial connection of the Highway Systems of Virginia and the South with the Nation's Capital.

The tremendous importance, therefore, of action by Congress before adjournment providing for a connection between the Southern arterial system and the Memorial Bridge is apparent; otherwise Congress will in 1932 find itself responsible for having invited the motorists of the United States to motor to Washington without having made suitable arrangements for their safety and comfort. The ensuing traffic jam will be worse than that which compelled President Harding to motor back from dedicating the grave of the Unknown Soldier by way of the Chain Bridge, due to the traffic tie-up at the Highway and Key Bridges.

If facilities were totally inadequate years ago, what will happen in 1932 if the Government fails to cooperate with Virginia in completing arrangements whereby more traffic space will be provided than was available when Harding was President.

The Virginia approach to the Memorial Bridge has always been regarded as an essential part of the bridge project. It was so regarded by President Coolidge, who pointed out when asking Congress for the bridge authorization that this approach would provide the most magnificent of all possible entrances to Washington. Money—Equilibrium Between Gold and Silver Should Be Restored.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Naturally the writer read with interest the letter in The Post by Jeremiah Johnson, which you captioned most truthfully: "Solution of Silver Problem More Important to World Welfare Than Any Other Remedial Action." Two years and a half ago the writer pointed out that the demonetization of silver was the real question before the world, because it practically stopped the purchasing power of 1,000,000,000 people, users of the white metal.

Mr. Johnson creates a wrong impression when he says: "The big bugaboo staring exports in the face is the silver question; not the Bryan 16 to 1 bimetallic two-standard question, but the complete dumping of silver on the market." Then he incompletely quotes J. P. Darling, of the Great Midland Bank of England. What Mr. Darling said concerning the ratio was this: "The free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver at the ratio of 16 ounces of silver to 1 ounce of gold, the relative production of the two metals for the past 5 centuries." Then he added: "We must get rid of gold mentality—mass ignorance. We are fools to put up with it. Common justice, common humanity and common sense urgently demand that the British empire take the lead in restoring the equilibrium of gold and silver on which the economic structure of the world rests."

He asserted with truth that the unprecedented discrepancy between the relative value of silver and gold is not due to natural causes, but is entirely the result of legislation; and that "what legislatures have taken away legislatures can restore."

Practice of Real Art of Making a Living Not a Bad Educational Method.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: A news dispatch says that Dean Leon Green, of the Northwestern University Law School, considers that "two years are enough to spend in pursuit of textbooks, and third and fourth year classes will be shifted to the living laboratory of Chicagoans and their everyday legal problems."

Hereafter, according to Dean Green, students will be turned loose in the courtrooms to study even the most trivial cases at close hand.

I don't pretend to be much of an expert on education, but, to my way of thinking, this looks like a good move. And I do not doubt that there are many plain practical citizens, with sons and daughters to be educated, who will take the same view.

Book learning is, of course, useful, but by getting too far away from the means of making a living it may become too much of a good thing.

O. Henry's Gentle Grafter did not make such a foolish crack after all when, referring to his wicked partner, he said, "Andy was educated, too, besides having a lot of useful information."

Reptiles Have Luxurious Quarters at the Zoo, but Visitors Can Stay Out in the Rain.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I see by The Post that the new reptile house at the National Zoological Park is to be ceremoniously opened next Friday and that it "is by far the most elaborate building at the Zoo."

Reptiles make my flesh creep, and I wouldn't worry at all if they were missing from the Zoo. Even if they were necessary in the interest of education, I don't see why so fine a residence should be provided for such repulsive specimens of animal life.

If it were left to the sight-seers in general, I am pretty certain that their preference would be given to the birds and our genial cousins, the monkeys. But reptiles—a palatial domicile for reptiles—ugh!

And while we are considering houses for animals, how about the Zoo fans? At present there is no comfortable place where they can rest, buy a lunch or a square meal if they need it, seek shelter from the rain, and get warm after viewing the deer, buffaloes, Rocky Mountain sheep, carabao, big cages of birds, and other outdoor exhibits in cold weather.

A suitable bungalow for the accommodation of Zoo visitors should have been erected long before now.

The River Pilot Was a Great Man Only So Long as the World Needed Him.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE kind of marriage supported by public opinion in the time of our fathers was the natural marriage.

It was an arrangement developed and approved by many centuries of trial and error.

It was a product of evolution.

When primitives lived in caves and mated without benefit of law or clergy, their way was natural also.

But these primitives had within them a natural capacity for development; and the exercise of this capacity through countless centuries of experimentation resulted at last in the modern marriage, sanctified by state and church, which is therefore as natural as the ripened fruit on a tree.

This process of development, like all processes of evolution, followed the line of expediency.

Because a woman with an infant child was unable to fend for herself, her mate was required to care for her.

Because orphan children were a nuisance to the community, their father was required to acknowledge and care for them.

And because the man was by nature better qualified to wrest a living from the world, and the woman was by nature doomed to remain much at home and to depend on the man for her living, the man was recognized as head of the household.

The one who pays the fiddler calls the tune.

Physical peculiarities, expediency and common justice decided the role each should play. The man was a provider, the woman a dependent.

The influence of Christianity and of chivalry made the lot of woman happier and in time lifted her to the dignity of partnership, but still she remained a "helpmate"—a cherished companion, but subject to her husband's will. Where he led she obediently followed. She followed happily or unhappily, for he was her bread and butter.

That was the natural relationship of man and wife.

It was a relationship resulting from and wholly dependent on woman's relative helplessness.

Now the situation has changed.

Woman has become economically independent—and acquired the ability to earn her own living—and she has become sensitive about her rights and quick to resent any effort to dominate her—just as a man does when he becomes economically independent.

The kind of marriage honored by our fathers is no longer natural. The conditions that made it natural have changed.

It still obtains in rural sections and in all cases where the woman still is dependent on the man, but its days are numbered. "Whose bread I eat, his song I sing" doesn't apply to the woman who can at any time earn bread for herself.

Like it or not, a new kind of marriage is in the making. And it will be a natural marriage, also—developed by a slow process of trial and error to fit new conditions.

The "dutiful wife" began to move from the stage when she got a job.

LADY OWEN GUILTY OF TRYING MURDER

Court in Britain Sentences Widow of Baronet to Five-Year Term.

Versailles, France, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Lady Owen, widow of a British baronet, tonight was found guilty of an attempt at murder with "extenuating circumstances," and was sentenced to five years imprisonment.

A jury convicted her of attempting to slay Mme. Leonie Gastaud, wife of Lady Owen's lover, July 23.

Lady Owen shot Mme. Gastaud shortly after the victim's husband, Dr. Paul Gastaud, told the widow that their friendship must cease. Mme. Gastaud was seriously wounded, but recovered.

The defendant, who is 34 years old, is French by birth, but acquired British nationality by marrying Sir Theodore Charles Owen, of London. After she was arrested she told the examining magistrate Dr. Gastaud had promised to divorce his wife and marry her, but had not kept his word.

Dry Issue Shelved As Teaching Unit

Dispute on Prohibition Is Relegated to Background at Convention.

Detroit, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—With the expected dispute on national prohibition temporarily relegated to the background, delegates to the annual convention of the Department of Superintendence, National Education Association, turned toward less controversial issues today.

The prohibition issue was raised through the action of Dr. Daniel S. Kealey, of Hoboken, N. J., to put the body on record as favoring a repeal of the eighteenth amendment. This resolution with one taking an opposite stand was still before the resolutions committee tonight.

If the prohibition controversy is resumed in the convention tomorrow Dr. Kealey will find himself opposed by a group of his colleagues from New Jersey. The group is headed by George C. Baker, past president of the New Jersey Teachers Association. It was claimed by this faction that Kealey acted as an individual and without the support of his State's delegates.

Judge Jeffries ordered that the selection of a jury be started before him tomorrow morning. This task is expected to occupy the greater part of the week.

to tell Premier Mussolini that France and Great Britain have agreed as concerns their relative naval needs and that France is ready to reduce her tonnage superiority over Italy.

The margin of superiority is represented mainly by old battleships and Italy probably can waive that margin without loss of prestige, since she enjoys parity with France in battleships under the Washington Treaty.

An official statement given out at the British Embassy tonight said: "It is impossible to measure what progress has been made until the Italian government has been brought into consultation. The governments of the United States and Japan are being kept fully informed."

DAWES TO REMAIN AT POST IN LONDON

Ambassador Denies Rumors He Is About to Return to Go Into Politics.

London, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Gen. Charles G. Dawes, America's fiery Ambassador to the Court of St. James, who has won his way into the hearts of the British people, plans to serve his full term of two more years here, he told the Associated Press today.

The ambassador thus silenced recurrent rumors that he would return to the United States either for political work or in connection with the world's fair at Chicago. He and his brother made themselves responsible for the opening of the exposition on time next year.

The general, who has a host of friends here, seems perfectly satisfied with his present job, although it is reported to be costing him $100,000 a year out of his own pocket. In announcing his intention to remain here for two more years, unless some unforeseen circumstance arises, he waved his famous undersiung pipe and said:

Is 65 Years Old.

"I am 65 years old. What more should I want to do?"

And the desire of the former Vice President to remain here suits the British people perfectly. England, for the most part, has expressed a frank liking for the American Ambassador.

British people admire his straight-from-the-shoulder methods and enjoy his explosive "hell'n Maria," an expression which became widely associated with him during the World War. At first the people were somewhat nonplussed by the general's frank and fiery style of oratory, which was something new to England. But long ago he took his place among the real personalities of Britain and he and his "up-side-down" pipe are in constant demand.

From a reliable source, though not the ambassador himself, it is said that Dawes' personal expenses here amount to $100,000 annually, and possibly more. He himself remarked to a friend a while ago that if he went through his four years on personal expenses of $100,000 a year he would "be saving money."

Living Expenses High.

While the general public thinks the Government pays most of the expenses of ambassadors, as an actual fact the country's contribution is but a drop in the bucket compared with the total expense in capitals like London, Paris and Berlin.

Discussing the forthcoming Chicago Fair, Gen. Dawes said plans are far ahead of schedule and his presence is not needed at home. He visited Chicago last summer.

(Associated Press.)

The decision of Ambassador Dawes to remain in London has brought to an end the many rumors which have centered recently around the London post.

A steady improvement in Anglo-American relations has marked the ambassador's tenure of office. State Department officials freely expressed the view yesterday that this was one of the outstanding accomplishments in these relations since the World War.

This era of distinct friendliness in Anglo-American relations is generally credited with having been begun nearly two years ago during the preliminary negotiations for the London Naval Conference. Ambassador Dawes, with the assistance of Hugh S. Gibson, Ambassador of Belgi conducted the negotiations with the British foreign office on behalf of President Hoover.

CUBA'S independence found renewed expression by patriots and friends attending the reception given yesterday by the Ambassador and Mme. Ferrara at the embassy on Sixteenth street in celebration of the joyous date of a quarter of a century or more ago. Following closely upon America's holiday on Monday in tribute to George Washington, society in large numbers attended the reception which matched in brilliance that given the day before by another "envoy" of the Western Hemisphere—Senora de Tellez's tea for Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow at the Mexican Embassy.

Mme. Ferrara, who received alone during a part of the afternoon, greeted her guests in the large drawing room which, like the other rooms, was enhanced by great bowls of flaming red roses. The flowers matched the gorgeous draperies which lend color to the mansion where white marble seems the prevailing note of splendor. They were the chosen decorations for the tea table where all society gathered during the late afternoon.

Even Mrs. James Corrigan, charming guest of the Ambassador and Mme. Ferrara, had selected a chic jacket of red velvet to complete her costume, thus adding another note of color to the tea table where she presided.

Also a guest at the embassy is Mrs. Armstrong Taylor, who, like Mrs. Corrigan, spends much time in London, although she makes her home in Palo Alto, Calif. For a year or two Mr. Armstrong, who is a member of the faculty of Stanford University, and Mrs. Armstrong have lived in President and Mrs. Hoover's house in California. The visitors are being widely feted during their visit in Washington and yesterday were warmly greeted on all sides.

Among those noted at the reception were the Ambassador of Poland, Mr. Tytus Filipowicz; the Minister of the Irish Free State, Mr. Michael MacWhite; the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, who had with her, her niece, Mrs. Webster Knight 2d, of Providence, who is the guest of the Vice President and Mr. and Mrs. Gann at the Mayflower.

Mrs. Wilbur, wife of the Secretary of the Interior, came in with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Curtis Wilbur; also Mrs. Hubert de Wichfeld. Mrs. Arthur H. Vandenberg attended. With Senator Vandenberg she will return next week to their home in Grand Rapids, Mich. Brig. Gen. William E. Horton, retired, was among the guests, who included also Lieut. Fete Is Given For Children By Mrs. Marye Granddaughter's Birthday Celebrated With 14 Guests Attending.

Children of various ages came into their own yesterday at the party given by Mrs. George T. Marye, who entertained at a fete for her young granddaughter, Marye Bright Thomas, daughter of Commander and Mrs. William D. Thomas. She celebrated her fourth birthday.

Bright-eyed and vivacious, little Marye Thomas had been looking forward to the event for weeks on a promise, made by her mother before her departure for Panama, that she should have a birthday party. So, in the absence of Mrs. Thomas, who recently joined Commander Thomas in Central America, Mrs. Marye arranged for a royal good time.

Numbering about fourteen, the children, accompanied by their nurses, assembled at the Marye home on N street, between 3 and 4 o'clock, to view with the sophistication of the modern child an elaborate program which was given for their amusement.

"Crazy Cat" movies were the big feature of the afternoon. Rabbits were pulled from hats and bottles by a magician, and a pianist rendered modern dance tunes for the jazz-minded members of the little party.

Later ice cream, a birthday cake and other refreshments important to childish appetites were served in the dining room.

Adams Plans Trip in March To Canal Zone

Secretary of Navy Will Witness Maneuvers of U. S. Fleet.

Tentative plans are under way by the Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Charles Francis Adams, for a trip to the Panma Canal Zone early in March to witness the maneuvers of the United States fleet which will be concentrated in southern waters for the annual review under the command of Admiral J. V. Chase.

The Secretary had hoped to leave for the South in time to attend the ceremonies incident to the arrival last Saturday of the British ship, H. M. S. Nelson, flying the flag of Admiral Sir Michael Hodges, but the program arranged for this visit will conclude on Saturday.

Secretary Adams, accompanied by his aid, Capt. H. R. Stark, plan to leave Washington at the close of the session of Congress. Their journey south will be made aboard the U. S. cruiser Chester, now undergoing repairs in the Norfolk navy yard. As the cruiser is ordered to the Canal Zone, sailing from Hampton Roads on March 4, Secretary Adams will take advantage of its movements and travel aboard the ship.

Elaborate arrangements have been made for the maneuvers. The combined United States fleets include the greater part of the effective fighting force of the United States Navy. The ships, for the most part, will be just off Balboa, according to original plans. When the Nelson entered the canal on Saturday it was to be met there by the United States flagship Texas, but plans were changed and the Nelson passed through the canal and berthed next the Texas alongside the Balboa dock.

Miss Edith Eustis, daughter of Mrs. William Corcoran Eustis, will go to New York to be a bridesmaid for Miss Evelyn Griswold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. S. Griswold, whose marriage to Mr. Brantz Mayor will take place on the afternoon of March 18 in the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church. WORK ON BRIDGE

WITH the above hand at Auction Bridge, South would bid one No Trump and obtain an uncontested contract.

At Contract Bridge South would bid three No Trumps and North's count of seven would be just two points short of the requirement for a bid of four; two Tens are not valued when suggesting a slam.

When the hand was played, West's opening lead was the Six of Diamonds which was passed up to South's Nine, North then was put in the lead with a Spade, and led a Club. When East played the Nine, South played the Ten, which won. To hold the King of Hearts in the dummy until the Clubs were established, South led the Ace and Queen of Clubs to tricks 4 and 5; East won the latter and returned a Diamond, which South took with the Ace. North then was put in with the King of Hearts and cashed the two long Clubs, South discarding a Heart and a Spade.

West kept his Queen of Diamonds guarded and added a trick with that card to East's Club King, so Declarer took eleven tricks in all. Dummy could have been put in with a Heart at trick 4 for a second Club finesse, which would have succeeded, but then dummy would not have been able to get in again to make the two long Clubs, and played in that way Declarer would only have made ten tricks. However, while eleven tricks were better than ten, eleven was not the maximum for the hand.

THE CORRECT PLAY.

The opening lead of the Diamond Six having marked the Queen-Eight-Seven in the West hand, dummy should have won the first trick with the Ten of Diamonds so as to obtain an extra entry. Then a Club could have been led, the double finesse taken, dummy put in with a Spade for a second Club finesse, the adverse King caught, and dummy put in with a Heart to cash his long Clubs. Played in that way, Declarer would have made twelve tricks.

HOW IT BEGAN

By Russ Murphy and Ray Sorensky

BACKGAMMON
TRADITION SAYS THAT THE CHINESE EMPEROR KIEN LUNG, WHILE WALKING IN HIS GARDENS HEARD THE SOUND OF DICE IN A HOUSE OCCUPIED BY YOUNG MEN WHO HAD COME TO BE EXAMINED FOR GOVERNMENT POSITIONS. HE SUMMONED THEM TO EXPLAIN. FEARING PUNISHMENT, ONE YOUNG MAN TOLD KIEN LUNG THAT HE HAD CONTRIVED A CHART SHOWING ALL GOVERNMENT POSITIONS AND A DICE GAME TO GO WITH IT TO IMPRESS HIMSELF AND FRIENDS WITH THE VARIOUS GOVERNMENTAL RANKS. THE EMPEROR COMMANDED HIM TO BRING THE GAME TO HIM IN THE MORNING. DURING THE NIGHT THE YOUNG MAN INVENTED THE FORERUNNER OF BACKGAMMON TO HAVE SOMETHING TO SHOW THE EMPEROR.

YOUR NAME

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

By HARRY A. DEFERRARI, Ph.D.

THE family name "Earhart" is an English variation of the German "Erhart." "Erhart" was an old personal name which may be translated "strong protection" or "strong honor."

The personal name "Amelia" is ultimately of Teutonic origin, and means "work."

A reader wishes to know why a woman's name should be adopted as a family name. This took place for three main reasons. When a child was born after the death of his father it was only natural that he should be known to the neighbors as, for example, "Tebotson" (the son of Isabel.) This was especially true if the father had moved from a different town into the native town of his wife who, therefore, would be better known. The above explanation is proved by the frequency with which the name "Widdowson" is found in old records. There is evidence that sometimes the name of a mother was given to a family because she had showed herself to be a better worker and provider than her husband. Thirdly, it is known that orphans who were adopted by female relatives frequently took the name of their foster mothers. Finally, it can not be denied that illegitimacy was sometimes the reason for the adoption of the mother's name, although there is no real evidence that this last reason was a frequent one.

The family name "Merriott" is one of the many diminutive forms of "Mary," and is therefore a metronymic or mother's name. The personal name "Mary" is ultimately of Hebrew origin, and may be translated "bitter" or "bitterness." The Hundred Rolls (1273) mentioned the names of Nicholas Maryot, John Mariot and Walter Mariot.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

OPINIONS are great things. More homes have been wrecked by opinions than by any other cause. Lives have been lost; lotes destroyed—by opinions. And most opinions are totally worthless. Few people even bother to have the same opinion today that they fought for last week. And so we claim without fear of contradiction that opinions are great things. Take fighting couples. We all know some outstanding fighting couple. What in the world are they fighting for? His opinion over her opinion or vice versa. Nothing at stake except a petty little personal opinion. Meanwhile their children will carry to the grave the memory of home as the place where po one was ever at peace for a minute. Parents jealously guarding and fighting for their worthless opinions might read and ponder Sophomore's plea for a little more peace in homes:

Dear Frances McDonald—I love to read your articles but most of the time you seem to me to be talking about things that are not of much importance. I mean if it wasn't for the way you talk I could not be bothered to read what you talk about. Love and such dumb. Why don't you talk about the things that go on in families? I mean the things that are put onto kids and all that. Honest I wish I was dead. I dread to go in the house. I work after school and stick around as long as I can. When I get there the kids are crying and my mother is bawling them out. Then in comes my dad. He drinks. I don't blame him. Know what I'd do? Well, I'd take a train for somewhere. I often look at him and wonder if he never thought of it. What does he come home for? The minute he gets in it starts. Fight. He never starts it but he always answers. Believe me I don't get married. But if I do and she starts that, I'll say yeah, and heave a pitcher of water onto her. I think it's as bad as being crazy to be always looking for a fight. My mother looks like a lady and treats every one fine outside the house. No one knows how it is at our house. They like her and she goes out playing cards and has her own way about everything. But if she gets a spot on her dress or any little thing happens to make her mad she just hops onto us. And dad takes it. If I was of age it would be out for me.

I make all my spending money rather than ask her for anything. I do anything she aske in the house. And yet she lays for me the minute I get in. Even my one little sister she can't let alone. The kid is only a baby yet. Seven years old. And she makes her set the table and then slaps the hand half off her if she drops a dish. Has a baby seven years old got a right to do housework and get cracked if she breaks something? It sure gores me when she slaps the kid. She is my mother but I have no feeling for her whatever except to be ashamed of her. You know how cold its been. And she would stay out playing cards and the kid could not even get in the house. When I got there she was half frozen. What kind of mother is that? If my wife did that to my kid there would be one good fight and no more. Now I sneak the kid my key so she can go in the house. But there will be a fight if that is found out. No reason why the kid should sit out on the sidewalk and freeze except my mother says she shall. Anything that is her idea has got to go over big. No one matters but just her. So she thinks. She calls my dad a fool. The only foolish thing about him is sticking around. When she wants money for a dress or something she will always say, "I know you have no pride and like to look like a ragbag but I was not brought up in an alley." Then my dad gets mad because he was not brought up in an alley either. And they fight and yell for hours. My little sister cries because she does not know what to do and then my mother has a chance to slap her and get rid of her temper. But how about the kid? What did she do to get slapped? I could write more. But print this much SOPHOMORE

Jane Interprets the Mode

Afternoon dress of black fleur de soie, with draped decolletage filled in in white crepe de chine. (Courtesy of Philippe et Gaston, Paris.)

Paris, Feb. 23.

WOMEN have at last decided to give up freezing in the name of chic and give it up they have. Fashion and social magazines and chambers of commerce notwithstanding, we are going to give chilly evenings and unexpected afternoon breezes due consideration during the summer.

Nary a chic summer wardrobe but will have its warm sport coat of flannel or one of its newer sisters, of lightweight wool or Kasha. And almost the favorite material for summer daytime wear is jersey or at least "Flamengre," that material which is artificial silk and wool. Even crepe de chine and tussor frocks will have their jersey boleros or jacquettes.

Nor would a really smart beach ensemble dare to not have its extra sweater or jacquette or fur-lined wrap—well, if not actually fur then at least fabric fur or very woolly wool.

And then no matter how short an evening wrap might be, you may be sure that it will be warmly lined. The little unlined velvet or satin evening wraps are not to be worn outside, but indoor for dining and after dancing.

My lady is going to be chic, and then she is going to be warm in the name of chic for the first time since Eve gave up wearing flower garlands and Adam his leopard skin. She said she had a change of temperament, but sh-h-h-h she was cold.

Black suede bags trimmed with white flat fur, and a hunk or so of crystal or maybe jet or maybe jade, anyhow somewhat in the order the bags I have illustrated for you today.

It's a sort of a crown effect or diadem, I should say, and you can place it on your hat either at the side or straight across the front, or wherever it is most becoming to you. And on the self-same hat, you can put either two rolls of black to match the hat or a roll of black and a roll of white, or one of black and one of turquoise, or one of black and one of rose. Or sh-h-h-h, you can put all of these rolls on the self-same hat and fool yourself into thinking that you have three hats that you particularly like. If you will send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet telling you how to make this hat with the three different trimmings, you won't be sorry!

I thought it was very gracious, this soft black silk afternoon dress with the graceful skirt—neither too long nor too short. It was a Philippe et Gaston idea until it got to be my idea to sketch it for you, not forgetting the bit of white at the throat.

When you hear that embroidery has come back to style don't, for heaven's sake, immediately visualize machine embroidery scattered indiscriminately hither and yon, nor even a lot of embroidery scattered anywhere. Think only of tiny touches of embroidery very carefully calculated on very much of the lingerie embroidery order. Eyelets, scallops and all sorts of eyeletted hand embroidery, and, of course, the favorite cherries and strawberries which are sometimes even embroidered in tiny flat beads.

An advance peek at summer fabrics can be found in Dare's weekly fashion letter in the big Washington Post next Sunday.

What Today Means to You

"PISCES."

IF February 25 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a. m. to noon, from 4 p. m. to 5:30 p. m., and from 7 p. m. to 8 p. m. The danger periods are from 7 a. m. to 8:30 a. m., and from 1:30 p. m. to 3 p. m.

Astrological influences on February 25 will be inspirational, and it would be wise to follow your own intuition, rather than to regard the advice of others. Do not be timid! The plunger will meet with success. The frame of mind will be combative and headstrong, and you should be able to break through difficulties which have hitherto hindered you.

The child born on this February 25 will have an adaptable nature, pleasing manners and friendly ways. It will have an optimistic outlook upon life, and there is a bright future in store for it. It will love adventure, and have considerable courage, mentally and physically.

Indecisiveness is the keynote of your nature, and you are always undecided how to act and always waiting for an opportunity. You are hampered with an over-abundance of self-esteem and approbativeness, which makes it difficult for you to admit your failings. Pisces has been called the sign of "self-undoing," and it may be said that your life will be symbolical of this sign of the zodiac. It is you own nature and not outside influences, which handicaps your progress.

Possessing very strong emotions, you become much attached to your friends, and you are always ready to accept their advice and opinion, and to act upon it whenever possible. You love to live in a world of romance, and are fond of sensational reading, the movies, and light conversation. You are very hospitable, and endeavor to make others comfortable and happy. Like most Piscurians, you are a good traveler—new faces and new places make an appeal to you. You like to taste the good things of life, and you have a capital idea of enjoying yourself.

You have a generous disposition, and you dislike to hurt others. You are slow to anger and hard to appease. It is not likely that you will stick to any one pursuit long enough to become master of any trade or business. Discontent will mar the serenity of your home life, although you will experience periods of happiness.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

PREPARING YOUR SOIL FOR ROSES.

THE most important detail in the culture of perennials is thorough preparation of the soil. Never be content with digging a hole in some convenient place and planting a root. These plants will remain for five years where you place them, so give them a good start. Place herbaceous plants where there is all possible sun and far away from the roots of trees, for nothing so impoverishes the soil of flower beds as tree roots.

In selecting varieties, do not confine your choice to spring bloomers. If you do in the middle of summer you will be entirely dependent for blooms on your annuals and bedding plants.

When planting roses keep in mind that they demand a very rich soil and a great deal of sunshine. Then they must be fed, watered and cultivated. And the time which will be consumed in waging warfare with their insect enemies must be considered. I am not trying to discourage the planting of these loveliest of all flowers, but I want all gardeners to give some thought to the matter and plant only the number they will be ready to care for. Also to suggest that some time be devoted to selecting a suitable spot for a rose plot.

The best soil for roses is a deep loam. Well-drained ground is essential and the plot should never before have been used for roses unless fresh earth is substituted for the old. Roses abhor wet feet, so if your soil is wet see that it is properly drained. This can usually be accomplished by digging out the bed to the depth of three feet and filling in one foot with broken clinkers or broken stone or using gravel, anything, in fact, that will permit a free passage of water.

Some weeks before planting, to allow for setting, you should dig your rose beds to the depth of eighteen inches or more. One third well-rotted manure should be added to the soil. This means you must remove one-third of the bulk of the soil above the drainage material and replace this amount with manure.

(Copyright, 1931.)

All readers' questions on growing and care of indoor and outdoor flowers and floral decorations for social functions will be answered by Miss Kift, directly in this column if addressed in care of The Washington Post, or directly to readers if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is supplied.

Bud Green with Brown Accessories

The delicacy of this clear pastel green is indubitably one of Spring's smartest fashions—especially when contrasted with brown accessories.

Misses will love this peplum frock of canton crepe—so simple, yet so Parisian in line. Crystal buttons and a baguette buckle add to its charm.

Land Condemnation Is Sought for Streets

The District Commissioners instituted proceedings yesterday in District Supreme Court, seeking to condemn land for the extension of three streets and the widening of one. All are in the Northwest section.

Idaho avenue, Thirty-seventh and Tilden streets are listed for extension, while Reno road is designated as the street to be widened. Assistant Corporation Counsel Walter I. Fowler appears for the Commissioners.

THROAT SORE?
Heed this Warning:

Any inflammation of the throat can spread very fast. Don't go to bed with "just a sore throat." It may be tonsilitis by morning! It takes five minutes or less to gargle with Bayer Aspirin. This simple precaution may save you days of suffering. It not only relieves all soreness, but reduces the infection. Three tablets crushed in ⅓ tumblerful of water; physicians say there is no more effective gargle. See proven directions for colds, headaches, neuralgic pains, etc. Get genuine Bayer Aspirin; effective, harmless.

A cold does 3 things

"Pape's" stops them all

A cold always affects you in at least three ways. Air passages are inflamed and irritated. Perspiration is checked. Bowels are clogged with acid wastes from the mucous discharge. So doctors say you must do three things to be rid of a cold.

Pape's Cold Compound does all three! It reduces inflammation and swelling of the mucous membrane; it induces perspiration; opens the bowels. Chew one of these pleasant tablets and see how quickly nasal discharge stops; head clears; breathing becomes easy. See how that achy, feverish, weak feeling disappears. And "Pape's" doesn't stop with killing cold germs. It activates bowels and removes germs and acid wastes from the system. All drug stores—25c. Just remember "Pape's."

Kotex protects longer

... because it absorbs away from the surface

THE secret of Kotex superiority is really very simple. It absorbs five times more than cotton and it absorbs laterally, away from the surface, leaving the protective edges dry and comfortable. That's very important.

Because both sides are equally absorbent, there's no danger of possible embarrassment by wrong adjustment. Wear it on either side with equal protection, equal comfort.

Kotex is adjustable. You can remove layers of filler as your needs change. It deodorizes thoroughly by a special process perfected in the Kotex laboratories.

And, as you know, it is so easily disposable that millions of women would not think of returning to old-fashioned methods of sanitary protection.

GUN GIRL INNOCENT, LETTER TO SON SAYS

Note of Mrs. Schroeder Tells of "Bad Things," but Denies Killing.

Pittsburgh, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—The Sun-Telegraph publishes a copyrighted photographic copy of a letter written by Irene Schroeder to her 5-year-old son, Donnie, telling him she did not kill Corpl. Brady Paul, of the Pennsylvania highway patrol, for whose murder she was electrocuted yesterday at Rockview Penitentiary.

The letter read:

"Donnie, my dear son:

"Soon I am going with joy, and I am just waiting anxiously for that time to come. I am going home to Jesus, and will be waiting for you. Donnie, some people may tell you that in my life I did many bad things. I did do many wrongs and these I was accused of many things I did not do. You have no need to feel any shame for this crime I am paying the penalty for regardless of what anyone says. I am unjustly accused. I positively did not kill Brady Paul. But for all that, I have no bitterness in my heart toward any person.

Sins Declared Washed Away.

"Donnie, I have this blessed assurance that all my sins are washed away by the precious blood of Jesus, our dear Saviour, who died on the cross for us all. My baby, there may be those who would try to hurt you by saying that you probably said something in the past to contribute to what others call trouble for me. Nothing that you ever said caused me any trouble. I am happy that things are just as they are. I am going to meet my Saviour. My hope and prayer is that you will always be a good Christian boy and man. When you are tempted to do anything wrong, just pause a moment, and ask God to guide you in the way he would have you do. May God bless and keep you to me at his throne of love and mercy.

"From your own loving mamma,
"IRENE SHRADER."

The woman said shortly before her death that "Shrader" was the proper spelling of her name, although she was indicted as "Irene Schroeder, alias Shrader."

The letter was left in the care of the Rev. H. O. Teagarden, spiritual adviser of the prisoner.

Rites for Pair Being Arranged.

Wheeling, W. Va., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—The body of Walter Glenn Dague, electrocuted in Pennsylvania yesterday for the killing of a Pennsylvania highway patrolman, lay in a funeral home here today, while relatives prepared for private funeral services tomorrow.

The body of Irene Schroeder still was at Bellefonte, Pa., where the woman died yesterday with Dague in the electric chair at Rockview Penitentiary. Information received here was that the woman's body would be sent to Wheeling late today. Time of the services for her was not disclosed.

Relatives of the pair sought the utmost privacy and anticipating a press of curious persons, asked for police protection during the funerals. Services for Dague will be held at Elm Grove tomorrow afternoon and burial will be in Sand Hill Cemetery at Dallas. Services for Mrs. Schroeder will be held at a funeral home here and the body will be buried in Rose Hill Cemetery at Bellaire, Ohio.

Gangster Theory Probed in Suicide

Lingle Witness Is Dead and Police Follow Report of Threat on Life.

Westminster, S. C., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Police here today were investigating statements that L. Graham Van Ness, a Chicago real estate salesman, took his own life here because he was being trailed by gangsters.

Relatives who came to Westminster to claim the body, said Van Ness was a witness to the slaying of Alfred Lingle, former Chicago Tribune reporter, and he had been threatened with death.

Van Ness went to his former home at Asheville, N. C., and asked for protection. A brother took him by automobile to Greenville, S. C., then to Anderson, and then to Westminster, where the youth slashed his throat, claiming he had seen his pursuers, police said.

Oil Men Want Speaker Pledged to Import Curb

Independence, Kans., Feb. 24 (A.P.). Republican representatives of Kansas were called upon today by A. M. Landon, spokesman for independent oil producers and former Republican State chairman, to support for Speaker of the next House of Representatives some one who will agree to prompt action on a bill to limit the foreign imports of oil and refined products.

Girl Leads Posse Hunting 2 Bandits

Texas Woman Heads Men Trailing Pair After Bank Robbery Effort.

Texarkana, Tex., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—A girl armed with a long rifle was in the front ranks of a posse trailing two bandits near here late this afternoon in the wake of a futile attempt to hold up the Guaranty Bond State Bank at Redwater, Tex., earlier in the day.

Miss Catherine Jones, 23, daughter of the postmaster at Redwater, learned the possemen, headed by Dan McDuffie, a Texas Ranger, were hunting the bandits and forthwith armed herself and joined the search.

The bandits ran into the bank with guns drawn and commanded Cashier R. W. Hawks and Miss Eura Langston, 20-year-old teller, to "stick 'em up." Miss Langston calmly refused to obey their commands and the youths fled without loot.

G. O. P. Caucus of House Not Necessarily Binding

(Associated Press.)

Representative Hawley, chairman of the Republican House caucus, yesterday informed Representative LaGuardia that members attending a party caucus were not bound, but had by common consent followed the conclusions reached therein.

Mr. LaGuardia, New York Republican, had asked in a letter whether the caucus to be held tomorrow is binding. He indicated he would refuse to be bound by the conclusions.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. W. A. EVANS

POWDERING NOSE IN PUBLIC.

WALKING down the street I noticed the cashier of a restaurant powder her nose industriously as she sat there working at her job. She reminded one of an ant washing his face. Now, ant society probably is the best the world knows unless it be bee society. The best that man has ever been able to do at making a society is a mighty poor product as compared with what bees and ants do. Maybe it will help to keep me from being murdered by indignant nose powderers to run in right here that both ant society and bee society are bossed by female of the species.

In this particular case of nose powdering the cashier sat in front of a large street-level window. She faced the customers beyond, but the cash register acted as something of a screen. On the cash register the lady had set up a small nose mirror. When business slackened she studied her face in the mirror secreted from the restaurant trade but badly exposed to the street wayfarer, and then went through the ant motions as she powdered her nose. I confess to have been one of the street gang, and I want to make amends for snooping by telling the lady something about powdering her nose.

The skin is studded with grease and sweat glands. These glands must have open mouthed tubes through which to pour out the sweat and grease they are to supply. If these mouths are kept plugged with powders, however harmless the powder may be, some harm to the skin may result. Men who do heavy labor and sweat profusely develop skin troubles if the mouths of the sweat glands are kept plugged. The evidence on that point, however, is not overly convincing. There is more likelihood that stopping the mouths of the grease glands tends to blackheads, pimples and acne.

Cleaning the skin is fine, as the ants and bees know, but powdering it is not so fine. Most face powders are made of good, clean dust of one sort or another. Some of them contain lead and other poisons. Lead poisoning has resulted from the use of lead powders. Babies have been poisoned by feeding at breasts powdered with lead powders.

There are some powders that are made of substances that are wholesome to most people, but are poisonous to others. There are people who, we say, are "sensitized to powders." For instance, rice powder is inoffensive to most people, but there are some who are poisoned by it. Let me add that there are some who are poisoned by the substances used in lipsticks and in eyebrow pencils.

OXALIC ACID FOODS.

L. N. writes: 1. What is the amount of oxalic acid in oatmeal? I have had an arthritic flare-up since using it heavily as a gruel.

2. Does a whole wheat cereal have the same acid content as other wheat foods?

3. Have parsley and spinach an acid ash?

REPLY.

1. I have not been able to find the percentage of oxalic acid in oatmeal. The proportion in cereals, meals and flours is very small. Kellogg, writing of gravel and stone, says: "Cereals should be eaten sparingly." But he does not go into detail. Your experience indicates that, for you, Kellogg's opinion holds.

2. Practically the same.

3. Parsley has a very low oxalic acid content as compared with other salads. It is much lower in oxalic acid than spinach. The content of oxalic acid in spinach is not so high, but that it is allowed to subjects of oxaluria, provided they boil it twice and throw away the juice from each boiling.

IN THE PLAYHOUSE

By JOHN J. DALY

ON Sunday night next the National Theater will welcome a new musical comedy, "Making Mary," which is now nearing its baptism of theater in dear old Pittsburgh.

• • • •

While all the guns are being fired on the E street front, the first fourdays of next week will be marked by great silence around Lafayette Square. That is, silence on the outside of the Belasco Theater, but on the inside there will be plenty of noise; for a crew of carpenters will be at work Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, transforming the inner theater into the semblance of a cabaret for Mr. Al Jolson's latest work of art, "The Wonder Bar"—which gets under way here on Thursday night March 5.

• • • •

Washington next week will be flooded with music in its theaters. This opera on the way from Pittsburgh, "Making Mary," in a production sponsored by Gordon and Lennox, the gentlemen who operate the New Yorker Theater in the metropolis. In a long list of principals, they are featuring June Martell of the Broadway night clubs. Miss Martell, who is no kin whatsoever to Dr. Martell, the celebrated surgeon and former Georgetown football star, is making her debut on the stage in the role of Mary.

• • • •

"The Wonder Bar," spelled with a "u" on the other side of the Atlantic, marks the return to the theater of Morris Gest, in the role of producer. When this is generally known, it will be sensed, immediately, that this production is something out of the ordinary. Mr. Gest, it may be remembered, stood sponsor for The Miracle—and he turned the old Century Theater into a veritable cathedral for that monumental work. Now, when "The Wonder Bar" goes into New York it will be housed in the Nora Bayes Theater—and that playhouse will take on the appearance of a cabaret, or night club; to give atmosphere to the piece. In a small way, the same thing is happening at the Belasco—the first four rows of seats will be torn out, the stage enlarged, and Mr. Jolson given ample opportunity to run down into the orchestra pit—as he used to work, once, in the Winter Garden.

• • • •

Julia Peterkin's novel, "Black April," is now being dramatized, and Mr. Arthur Hopkins, the producer, will give it a Broadway production next October. Miss Peterkin is the same lady whose novel, "Scarlet Sister Mary," furnished play material for Miss Ethel Barrymore. It was Guilah then, and it will be Guilah again in "Black April;" but this time, to give the play some sort of reality, Paul Robeson, the famous Negro actor, will be hired to play the starring role.

• • • •

When the Theater Guild production now playing the National, Mr. Arthur Schnitzler's "The Lonely Way," gets into New York it will have opposition from the same playwrighting studio. That is, Mr. Schnitzler's "Anatol," with Joseph Schildkraut in the title role, will be doing business on Broadway despite the fact that the play, supposed to be losing money, was scheduled to close last Saturday night. Bela Blau, the producer, decided to hold on a little longer.

• • • •

"The Lonely Way," incidentally, is a piece of drama that only the Theater Guild would dare foist before the public of 1931-32. If it goes over, as many of Schnitzler's admirers hope will be the case, the Theater Guild will have proved to its own satisfaction that there are those who want to delve deep into the human heart, instead of seeing drama that scratches only the surface.

• • • •

The extremes of entertainment are here this week: deep dish drama at the National, and light and fluffy stuff at the Belasco; a hodge-podge called "Better Times," that has its moments.

STOCK MART ACTIVE IN NEW HIGH LEVELS

5,300,000 Shares Turnover as Aftermath to Two Days of Rest.

New York, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—The most active market since October 10 saw stocks rise rapidly during the earlier hours today, meet heavy profit taking in the afternoon and then closed with a strong tone as bulls put support behind the utilities and specialties.

The turnover of 5,300,000 shares exceeded by a substantial margin any previous day's business this year. Sales in the first half hour totaled 900,000 shares, representing a huge accumulation of week-end buying orders. For a brief time in the morning the ticker got eight minutes behind the tape, but the quotation apparatus caught up on the first wave of realizing.

Generally speaking, final prices were considerably below the top, although some of the last minute favorites got up their best head of steam just before the close. Conspicuous among these was Eastman Kodak, which soared 9¾ points.

Standard Gas Gains 6.

Standard Gas & Electric, with a gain of 6, and American & Foreign Power and American Water Works, whose advances amounted to 5½ net, were other features. Shorts in Westinghouse Electric also suffered a severe squeezing, for the stock climbed about 7 points and finished just under the top. Case and U. S. Industrial Alcohol were also strong.

Many stocks distinguished themselves while the market was hitting its best pace. United States Steel touched 150½, American Telephone crossed 201, and General Motors made a new high of 44¾. American Can was dormant most of the day, in contrast to last Saturday's strength, although it, together with the coppers, was brought forward as a leader early in the afternoon after one of the ripples of realizing had slowed the pace. Can, however, closed fractionally lower while steel's gain of 1¾ was reduced to ⅝. Telephone lost one-third of its 3-point climb.

Chemicals, as a group, were strong. Union Carbide gained 4 and Allied Chemical 5, but the latter yielded most of its advance. Copper shares got impressive leadership from Anaconda, which closed with a 2-point gain. Rails reacted for a time, but looked better in the later trading. Oils moved narrowly.

Stimulating News Absent.

Radio, ending the day at 26½, was up 4 points and had more than doubled its 1931 low. Activity in this old favorite as accompanied by a revival of the report that the company was again negotiating for the sale of its communications business to International Telephone.

The market acted on its own responsibility, for there was no news over the holiday to give it stimulation. The decidedly strong tone of the opening, which was marked by blocks of from 1,000 to 15,000 shares, doubtless overcame the resistance of some traders who had been holding out against the trend, in the belief that the discounting of business recovery was proceeding too liberally.

The other markets, with the exception of cotton, which closed $1.15 to $1.45 a bale higher, were sluggish. Domestic bonds were about steady, although foreigns rallied. Wheat sagged as much as 1½ cents, reflecting an increased visible supply and bearish weather. Corn was steadier, off about half a cent on the average.

Foreign exchanges rallied, particularly sterling, which rose 9-32 for cables on the report that England and France had agreed on a gold distribution agreement. The Spanish peseta continued its recovery, attaining a new 1931 high.

HOME BONDS STAY IN SAGGING TRENDS

Strength and Activity of Foreign Issues Are in Sharp Contrast.

New York, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Strength and activity in foreign bonds, with some at new highs for the year, was in sharp contrast with the narrow, irregular trend of home investment issues as they ignored the sharp rise in the share market today.

The foreign section gave further evidence of a revival of interest with prices moving upward in very active trading. A feature was the large turnover in British 5½s. The bonds closed at 106⅝, off ⅛. The year's high is 107.

German International 5½s were accumulated in large volume and closed up ¼ at a new year's peak, and Copenhagen City 5s, Italian Public Utility 7s, and Royal Dutch 4s with warrants, joined it in new high ground for the year. Roumania 7s rose more than a point. Advances of a point or more in Brazilian Governments and gains of 4 points each in Chilean 7s, and Mortgage Bank 6s stood out in the South American group. Reports of troops being mobilized in Uruguay to quell possible subversive attempts caused some uneasiness, the 6s of 1960 dipped 1½ and the 6s of 1964 declined slightly less.

So far as domestic securities were concerned, sentiment appeared little changed from last week. The market was a little busier, but traders were reluctant to bid up prices with the Government refunding operations still uncertain and the close was steady on changes of fractional proportions.

Here and there some special activity or movemnt stood out. St. Paul adjustment 5s of 2000 were turned over in large volume and rose more than a point, but closed ⅛ net lower. Cuban Railroad 7½s advanced 2½, while Erie 5s of 1975 reacted a point and International Great Northern 6s sagged 2¼. Rails as a whole showed a slightly lower tendency.

United States Governments were slightly more active and reactionary. Treasury 4s and Liberty 3½s sagged 6-32ds and Liberty 4th 4¼s were 3-32ds lower.

There was expanded activity in stock privilege issues, but most of the changes were on the downside. Amusements were weak, Warner Bros. 6s toppled 3¾ points to a new year's low at 66. International Telephone 4½s sagged nearly a point. After touching a new year's high at 122, Atchison convertible 4½s lost its earlier gain and closed ¼ off.

Offerings will be made tomorrow of $6,636,000 City of Toronto, Canada, 4½ serial debentures.

EXPANSION PLANNED BY FINANCIAL HOUSE

Alexandria Bank Announces Specifications for More Floor Space.

By THOMAS M. CHERE.

Plans for a projected addition to the building of the First National Bank of Alexandria are being prepared by Milburn, Heister & Co., local firm of architects, said, if they are adopted, 1,000 square feet of floor space will be added to the present structure.

A new burglarproof and fireproof safe deposit vault will be constructed in the rear of the present vault and adequate facilities in the way of comfort, facilities and a conference room for patrons will be provided.

Approximately 700 square feet of additional floor space will be allotted to the clerical department of the bank and a portion of this will be set apart for the use of the trust department which, it is said, has grown rapidly in recent years.

The directors and stockholders room will be located on the second floor of the addition and will overlook the present lobby of the bank. The counters and screen of marble and bronze, erected more than twenty years ago, will be modernized with the view of greater convenience to customers and increased efficiency on the part of the clerical force. This change will also add much to the appearance of the main banking room.

It is hoped that the improvements will be begun at an early date and completed about midsummer.

Lloyd B. Wilson was reelected president of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. at a meeting of the board of directors held here yesterday. Marshall D. Sutton, Phillip O. Coffin and John C. Kenna were reelected vice presidents, and Walter B. Clarkson, vice president and secretary. Other officers reelected were H. C. Gretz, general auditor; H. A. Van Orsdel, general counsel; Minne Hamilton, general manager, and Thomas B. Clarkson, treasurer.

The board also authorized additional underground conduit and cable construction in the North-Potomac-Decatur central office district, this project bringing the amount appropriated for gross additions to plant in the District so far this year to $481,751.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Persistent reports that Farm Board allies were selling wheat to Europe at lesser prices than private firms offered gave a downward trend to grains today. Heavy snowfalls in Canadian wheat districts acted also as a bearish influence, together with miniature relief for dummies with winter wheat Southwest. United States visible supply increased, and cuttings of wheat and corn were price round for the season.

Wheat closed after being unchanged to 1½ cents lower, corn ¾ to 1 cent off, oats at ¼ decline to ¼ advance, and provisions unchanged to 25 cents up.

Before revival of reports that Government-sponsored agencies were selling export wheat on a competitive basis, grain prices had been responsive to upward swings of the stock markets, and had more than overcome early declines. These decreases were associated with larger increased supplies of wheat on ocean passage and with bundling of cash grain in domestic winter wheat sections Southwest. The settlement account of cornmen, however, was given a decided jolt by New York messages stating that wheat for Farm Board allies were diverted to another through bidders, and that Canadian millers also imported offerings from United States Government agencies.

Wheat failed to rally in the face of bearish influences despite reports of 1,180,000 bushels taken by the Board of Trade. Subsequently, however, enlargement of the United States visible supply, making the total 116,680,000 bushels, against 107,884,000 a year ago. Wheat sagged on ocean passage movements of 5,600,000 bushels, and were 37,000,000 bushels, compared with 20,200,000 at this time last year. Adding to discomfiture of bulls was weakness of the Winnipeg market, a circumstance emphasized by estimates that only 300,000 bushels of Canadian wheat had been disposed of under the Hoover plan.

Corn and oats gave way with wheat. Liberal amounts of corn from other terminal markets continued to be booked to come to Chicago.

Provisions were firm, despite lower quotations on hogs. Commission houses were on the buying side of lard.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Relatively firm Liverpool cables, the continuing of the trade recovery were reflected by advances in cotton here. Trade interests were credited with buying March against sales by some southern and there appeared to be some covering by March shorts on the advance, which carried the price up to 11.70, or 29 points net higher. Gardner, above last Saturday's closing quotation and the general market closed very steady at net advances of 23 to 28 points.

The opening was steady, 10 to 21 points higher in response to the firmness of Liverpool over the local holiday. Cleargrowth of March notices estimated at around 121,000 bales, brought out some fresh March liquidation, but it was readily absorbed by trade buying against sales of later delivery.

Offerings of the latter months were taken by operators, while there was confined buying believed to be for both domestic and foreign account. After opening net advances of about 20 points, the demand caused an immediate rise of 5 points from the first transaction. May advanced up again, pushing the best prices of the day at the time trading. May advanced to 11.44 and December to 12.18, and the close was within a point or two of these quotations.

The demand for March contracts seemed to create an impression that there was a shortage of cotton for the nation as a whole, but in the face of trading March by the buyers of March position. Some switching also was credited with the selling, but in the face trading March had been disposed of under to Europe. Cash sales were small and generally unchanged, compared with a difference of 100 points at the close of the previous day. Trade interests and commission houses were credited with operating for manufacturers, and offers made moderate here were credited with coming from the South mainly.

Liverpool cables attributed the strength and the market there to continued and increased buying by Lancashire and advances in Egyptian centers as well as reports of trade in Manchester. Exports for the week to date, including 4,000 bales to Japan, were 73,000 bales, making 4,866,000 for the season. Port receipts, 12,685; Southern interior receipts, 31,000; stocks, 1,000,000.

HOPEFUL BAND OF NATS HEADS FOR BILOXI CAMP

Westbrook Pegler Says

NEW YORK, Feb. 24.—The literature of sport has been so punk for so long that it is pleasant to note that a few writers are touching on this rich subject now who know something about it and also know something about writing. For a long time the fictioneers hammered out and sold for good prices a run of prize-fight fiction which was no more like reality than epsom salts is like snow.

Glib fourflushers, they write "Cheese it, youse," and "'Listen, lady,' the kid says to this skirt," and the book publishers and magazine editors bought this for authentic prize fighters' slang either because they know no better or couldn't find anything better to buy.

Not long ago I read a short fiction story by an expensive author who pretends to be some authority on pugilism in which he retold the ancient myth about the prize fighter who is ashamed of his calling and therefore tells the girl that he works in an office somewhere.

This sensitive young man, who is called the Kid, of course, is horribly embarrassed, when he enters the ring to fight for the world championship a short time later, to discover this fair flower sitting in one of the ringside rows. Of course, he blushes down to the rim of his tights when their eyes meet in a brief, anguished glimpse, as he gazes out over his opponent's shoulder in a clinch. So unnerved is he at being thus discovered that he is thereupon popped on his patee and comes up on his instinct, utterly blimdy and primitive, to win the title by a knockout while mentally away.

KNOCKOUT FOLLOWS BLUSH

To make matters more interesting, here is a counter-deception. The kid's photograph may be presumed to have been running in the papers for at least a week before the fight. She has not detected the resemblance, nor has she thought to mention that her brother was the champion of the world.

The prize fighter never lived who wishes to conceal his business for motives of modesty, and the very few who ever did so were cheap preliminary hams who wished to protect their amateur standing on college football teams.

But this old story has remarkable stamina, and I expect to see it often again.

The novels on or about sport of the last few years have been "Iron Men," by somebody Burnett; "Young Man of Manhattan," by Katharine Brush; "Huddle," by Francis Wallace; "Poor Nigger," a story of the life of Battling Siki, by Orlo Vergani, and now a new one, "Shoe the Wild Mare," by Irene Fowler.

MR. FOWLER DEALS WITH TRUTH

In this last-named job Mr. Fowler has done a character, some dialogue, and tragedy of the prize fight business which will have the sound of sympathy and reality to the trade. The deals in easy, recognized slang rather than the phoney tough talk, which the magazines have so long been accepting as legitimate, and the story of the fighter's death is told with a compassion which I have never seen shown a fighter in a story before.

Once I was going to write a gentle story about a prize fighter's death. His friends said he had gone to join his little wife, for whom he had been grieving several years, but when I sat down to write about that I remem-

Track Stars Seeking U.S. Titles

Aces Fro m18 States, 3 Foreign Nations Clash Tonight.

Only 2 of Champions Seen as Likely to Retain Crowns.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Outstanding track athletes from eighteen States and three foreign countries are scheduled to compete tomorrow night at Madison Square Garden in the twenty-fifth annual indoor and field championships of the United States. The meet is staged under the auspices of the Amateur Athletic Union.

Twelve champions will be defending the titles they won a year ago on the same track, but only one or two are given more than an even chance of repeating.

Among those who have an even or better chance of defending their laurels are Lee Sentman, of the University of Illinois, in the hurdles; John W. Lewis, of Detroit City College, in the 880-yard dash; Hans Assert, of the Deutscher Sport Club, in the 2-mile steeplechase; Harold Osborn, in the standing high jump; William Werner, of the Greenwood Track Club, in the standing broad jump, and Fred Sturdy, of the Los Angeles A. C., in the pole vault. Sturdy and Osborn look the best in their fields.

Many Face Loss Of Titles.

Those almost sure to lose their titles are Dr. Paul Martin, of Switzerland, in the 1,000-yard run; Joseph McCluskey, of Fordham, in the 2-mile run; Phil Edwards, of Hamilton, Ont., at 600 yards; the New York University medley relay team and Anton Burg, of the Illinois A. C., in the running high jump.

Dr. Martin must face great competitors as Ray Conger, Paul Keller, of France; Dale Letts, of the University of Chicago, and George Bullwinkle, of New York, in his specialty. Edwards must overcome Alex Wilson, of Notre Dame; Bernard McCafferty, of Holy Cross; Sera Martin, of France, and several others, all of whom, on the season's records, must be favored to give the Canadian Negro a sound beating.

Spitz and Osborn Bid for Crown.

George Spitz, of New York, and Osborn are expected to fight it out for Burg's title, with Howard Spencer, of Beaver Falls, Pa., Geneva College jumper, the dark horse among the competitors. Gus Moore, Brooklyn Negro, who hasn't lost a 2-mile race this winter, is favored to take McCluskey's crown.

Loughran and Schaaf Matched for 4th Time

New York, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Tommy Loughran, of Philadelphia, former light heavyweight champion, and Ernie Schaaf, rugged Boston heavyweight, have been matched for a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden, March 13. It will be their fourth clash, Schaaf having won two decisions and Loughran one.

This bout will replace the contemplated battle between Len Harvey, of England, and Jackie Fields, former welterweight champion, which was abandoned when Fields was placed on the suspended list by the New York State Athletic Commission.

Navy-Columbia Sign Two-Year Grid Pact

New York, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—For the first time in 30 years Columbia and Navy will meet on the football field in 1932 and 1933.

In announcing the agreement with the Navy today, Reynolds Benson, graduate manager of Athletics at Columbia, said the first game will be played at Annapolis and the second at Baker Field.

The Navy game would be the last on the Columbia schedule and would take the place of the Syracuse game, a fixture for several years. The Naval Academy thus would have a New York game to share interest with the annual Army-Notre Dame battle.

2 D. C. FIVES REACH END OF SEASON

Md. U. to Meet Hopkins; Hilltop at Baltimore.

MARYLAND and Georgetown reach the end of their respective basket ball schedules tonight, the former completing a highly successful campaign and the latter an exceptionally poor one, comparatively speaking.

Maryland entertains its ancient State rival, Johns Hopkins, in a game at College Park beginning at 8:15, and figures to win. Georgetown tackles Loyola in Baltimore and is doped to lose.

Winner of 13 out of 17 games played to date, Maryland meets a team it already has defeated, the Blue Jays having dropped a 33-20 decision on their home court last month. Although Hopkins will be strengthened by recent acquisition of Stude, previously ineligible, nobody expects the earlier result to be reversed.

Loyola Rated Too Strong For Georgetown.

In opposing Loyola, Georgetown, which has won but five games in 20 starts, will play a team with a record (as this is written) of 14 straight victories in as many games. While having regained the services of Bill Shea, reinstated after suspension for disciplinary reasons, the Hilltoppers still seem to lack strength enough to upset the Baltimore Jesuits.

Tonight's affair at College Park does not, however, terminate activity for Maryland, for the Old Line squad is scheduled to perform—as one of the foremost contenders—in the championship Southern Conference tourney beginning Friday at Atlanta.

Maryland heads the lower bracket of teams, opposed to Louisiana State University in thefirst round. Alabama, 1930 champion, tops the upper bracket and meets Tennessee in its initial contest.

Md. Doped to Pass First Round.

If form holds true, Maryland will get by the first round to tackle the winner of the North-Carolina-Vanderbilt clash. If successful in the second round the Old Line most likely will meet Georgia, the team that stands at the top of the conference today with fifteen victories as against a single loss.

Alabama, according to forecasters, will encounter little difficulty until the third round, while the same is predicted for Duke, placed in the same bracket with the Crimson Tide.

Further than that, the wise boys withhold their tongues, being afraid to risk their reputations with Alabama, Maryland, Duke and Georgia looming equally formidable.

Ruth Fails in Pinch In Play-Off of Golf Tie

St. Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 24 (A.P.). Babe Ruth, amateur golfer, failed in the pinch.

Babe, Charles Hynes, Belmar, N. J., and Charles MacDonald, an engineer of Westchester County, N. Y., were in a three-cornered tie for the Jungle Club amateur tournament title.

In the play-off, Hynes shot a 73, Babe a 76, and MacDonald 78.

C. U. Five Bolstered For Brooklyn Invasion

Fortified by the return of Tommy Whelan, guard, Catholic University's basketers depart tomorrow morning on a two-day invasion of Brooklyn, where they meet the crack St. John's five tomorrow night and the Seventh Regiment National Guard team on Friday.

Whelan, whose time has been taken by studies to the exclusion of athletics, is slated to pair up with Lou Spinelli at guard. Last winter as a member of the freshmen quintet, Whelan distinguished himself by his effective defensive work. The rest of the lineup will show Hugh Flynn at center and Joe Cunningham and Bus Sheary at forwards. In addition to these five, Coach Chick Gagnon will take along Joe Walsh, Jim Hanley and Johnny Oliver.

The game originally scheduled by the Cardinals with Seton Hall, of South Orange, N. J., for Saturday, has been canceled.

Walker-Risko Bout Delayed To Tonight

Promoter Optimistic as Rain Postpones Heavy Battle.

Middleweight King Is Weighed In at 165, Risko at 194.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—The first of Miami's winter heavyweight struggleshave stumbled over the last hurdle—still man weather—today and promptly took the count.

The fistic festival, featuring a ten-round bout between Mickey Walker and Johnny Risko and scheduled for tonight at the Madison Square Garden arena, was washed out by a heavy downpour of rain and postponed until tomorrow night.

Promoter "Tex" Stribling announced the postponement after the weather man furnished assurances that the rain could be expected to continue most of the night. This prediction was fulfilled, but the forecast was for clearing weather by tomorrow afternoon. Even the moon may stage a comeback for the benefit of the customers tomorrow evening.

Young Stribling Drills In Box Office.

It was a busy day for the Striblings, father as well as son—young W. L., who put in a workout at the box office in a downtown hotel today to keep in condition for the exhibition part of the program he will share with his forthcoming title rival, Max Schmeling.

"The postponement may help business," the elder Stribling declared optimistically.

"We have plenty off tickets on hand and with another 24 hours of ballyhoo perhaps we can go comfortably over the $50,000 I feel sure we will take in."

Before the program was tackled and thrown for the day by old Jupiter Pluvius, Walker and Risko went through the ceremony of weighing in, at which it was disclosed Mickey would have to commit exactly 28½ pounds to Johnny. Walker scaled 165½ pounds to prove he was right down to his best fighting weight. Risko weighed 194.

Wallner Hinted as Sub for Primo.

The latest gossip along Miami's fistic row today concerning the second heavyweight carnival, if any, was that Walker, permitting he beat Risko, would be offered the job of substituting for the 278-pound Primo Carnera as an opponent for Jimmy Maloney March 5. Promoter Frank J. Bruen scouted this report and denied knowledge of any overtures, said to have been made with a view of removing Carnera and his cracked rib from all possible pugilistic risk under the palms. Bruen said the expected Carnera to resume training tomorrow although the Italian's manager, Leon See, reiterated previous assertions that the oversized one would not be in condition to enter the ring for at least a month.

Md. and V. P. I. Shift Scene of Grid Clash

Maryland's football game with Virginia Polytechnic Institute next October 31 will be played in Blacksburg, home of V. P. I., instead of Norfolk, where the battle has been contested for the past five years. Inaccessibility of the Norfolk Baseball Park, where the game was scheduled, was the reason for the shift.

Jones Leaves Atlanta For Hollywood Movies

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Bobby Jones, retired amateur golf king, left here today for Hollywood, Calif., to make a series of educational motion pictures depicting his various golf strokes.

He will stop in Chicago tomorrow to receive the Sullivan A. A. U. medal, voted him sometime ago as the Nation's outstanding athlete for 1930. The presentation is to be made at a banquet there.

Latona Quits Western; Blow to Tennis Team

Anthony Latona, Western High's outstanding basket ball and tennis player, and leading scorer in the high school court series recently closed, left school yesterday to accept an appointment in the State Department.

His going spelt the doom of Western's chances of capping the inter-high tennis championship, a title which has been quietly well looked up by the Georgetown boys since 1923. Latona was slated to play No. 1 position in singles and doubles. He plans to return to school in September. Western will miss him greatly in basket ball next year, since Bucher, Towell, Foxx, Summers and Taylor all graduated this year.

Giants Opine Lively Ball Is Not Yet Dead; Damp Days Seen Boon to Smart Hurlers

Squad Unanimous in Belief Pellet Has Lost No Speed.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 24 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The lively ball is not dead.

That is the opinion of the young and old Giants as they finished their second day of training this afternoon. And it is also the opinion of these same Giants that on a damp day, a smart pitcher will be able to perform more tricks with the new ball than Russell Ford did when he was with the Yankees; when Eddie Cicotte was the ace of the White Sox, and when "Hod" Eller pitched the Reds to the National League pennant.

The ball is as lively as ever and the ball players are unanimous in their opinion that while the seams have been raised and perhaps the cover made a little heavier, none of the speed has been taken out of the ball and one little swing will drive it up against the fence.

Donahue Foresees Aid to Pitchers.

Pitcher Donohue looks the ball over carefully and then said:

"A smart pitcher will be able to make this ball do a lot of tricks and fool the best batters in the country. On a damp day it will not be any trouble to load the ball with a bit of dirt. That is, put dirt in the seams of the ball.

"Then, too, the new ball will sail better than the old one. I believe it will help our curve ball pitchers, as they'll be able to get a better grip on this new ball than the old one."

Hubbell, who arrived in camp this morning, and Mitchell voiced the same idea as the tall right-hander from Texas. But neither of them would admit that the manufacturers have taken the Jack Rabbit out of the new ball. They are sure that the big fellows in the major league, such as Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Al Simmons, Hack Wilson and Chuck Klein, will get their usual quota of home runs this coming season.

HEENEY MATCHED.

Detroit, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Tom Heeney and Charlie Retzlaff, both of whom have had heavyweight championship aspirations, have been matched for a 10-round bout at Olympia Arena here March 6.

THE BASEBALL TRAIL

FORT MYERS, Fla., Feb. 24 (A. P.).—Fifteen Athletic pitchers, most of the mrosy-cheeked, over-anxious rookies headed upward from the minors, grabbed the new American League baseball today and tried to make it go places and do things.

Lefty Grove, Mack's pet fire-bailer, gripped one on his long fingers and grunted "Maybe the pitchers will be able to do something with this ball," he said, "but it looks the same to me."

Berg Named Holdout By White Sox.

San Antonio, Tex., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Texas produced some sunshine today and the Chicago White Sox had their first good workout since they arrived in San Antonio. It was not strenuous, however, with the Athletes chasing fly balls and limbering up.

Moe Berg, the lawyer-linguist who has done part of the Sox catching for several years, was definitely classed as a holdout. It was understood that Berg's salary figure had been lowered and that he had not signed. Donie Bush is in good shape for catchers, however, with Bennett Tate, Butch Henline and Frank Grube.

Levey Among Browns' Promising Rookies.

West Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 24 (A. P.).—The first contingent of Browns reached West Palm Beach today and went through a light workout. Manager Bill Killefer announced that starting tomorrow the training grind would be strenuous. Killefer predicted the Browns would get at least to regulars out of Storti, Levey, Burns and Crouch, up from the Texas League.

Ferrell, in Condition, In Indians' Camp.

New Orleans, La., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Wesley Ferrell, right-handed pitching ace, reported for training at the Cleveland American's camp today. He took on "approximately 3 ounces" this winter, so needs no extra work to get into condition, he said. Ferrell and his battery mates worked two hours on a field still soaked from yesterday's rain. Catcher Luke Sewell was the only battery absentee. He is expected tomorrow.

S. Johnson Only Card Pitcher Delinquent.

Bradenton, Fla., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Jim Lindsey, big right-handed pitcher whose relief work last year saved numerous games for the Cardinals, reached camp today, leaving Syl Johnson, the only pitcher absent or unaccounted for. Lindsey explained he was a day late because of slow train connections. George Kopshaw, Piedmont League umpire, has been engaged to officiate for the Cardinals in their spring exhibition games.

Bucs Idle in Tribute To Deceased Official.

Paso Robles, Calif., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Training camp activities were suspended today at the Pittsburgh Pirate maneuvering grounds as a tribute to the memory of Samuel W. Dreyfuss, young official of the club whose funeral was held at Pittsburgh this afternoon. Dreyfuss, a son of owner Barney Dreyfuss, died Sunday of pneumonia.

The first casualty appeared in the ranks of the players today when Pitcher Steve Swetonic was sent to Los Angeles to consult a specialist about soreness in his salary arm. The trouble was not believed to be serious.

Phillies Inaugurate Training Trip.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Another baseball season got under way today for the Philadelphia Nationals when the first squad of battery men left here for the Southern training base at Winter Haven, Fla.

Those in the party headed by Manager Burt Shotton included Tony Rensa and Gene Connell, catchers; Tommy Milligan, Chester Nichols and Charles Schesler, pitchers. Other members of the team will join the party farther south or at Winter Haven.

Reds' Batterymen Train Indoors.

Tampa Fla., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—The Cincinnati Reds' pitchers and catchers today went through morning and afternoon indoor workouts at an exhibition hall at Plant Field, an all-day rain failing to hold the batter men in idleness.

Manager Dan Howley, confined to his Palm Beach home with an infected toe is expected to join his athletes Thursday.

Twelve New Arrivals At Cubs' Base.

Avalon, Calif., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Another dozen of Chicago Cub ball players arrived on Catalina Island today, but the same twenty who have been doing all the work, did it again.

Manager Rogers Hornsby excused Hack Wilson, Kiki Cuyler, Riggs Stephenson, Lester Bell, Charley Grimm, Cliff Heathcote, from work today, but ordered them to be out at 11 a. m., tomorrow for a three-hour session. The pitchers and catchers went through their exercises, including the daily soccer match.

Von Elm and Golden Team in 4-Ball Event

Miami, Fla., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—George Von Elm and John Golden, who tied for high score prize in the recent Agua Caliente $25,000 open, will team together i the approaching $5,000 international four-ball golf matches here, tournament officials announced today.

It was also announced that Johnny Farrell and Gene Sarazen, both former national open champions, will play together in the tournament.

In anticipation of a last-minute rush on the part of club managers to submit team entries and player registration, The Post has arranged to have an A. A. U. official in the sports department today, tomorrow and Friday, from 2 p. m. to 12 a. m., to receive these blanks.

Blanks to register players can be secured from William E. Russell, chairman of registration, at 1502 North Capitol street, or from the sports department of The Post. Cards omitting the initials to all A. A. U. privileges will be issued to those submitting these blanks. Managers of girl's teams can obtain player registration and team entry blanks either from Miss Parker, at Room 2, District Building, or from the sports department of The Post.

Pennant Ambitions of Club in Contrast to 1930 Trip.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Post Staff Correspondent).

EN ROUTE to Biloxi, Miss., with the Nats, Feb. 24.—A batch of the raw material that may be hewn into a component part of the baseball machine that will represent Washington in the 1931 American League pennant race was speeding southward tonight under the fatherly eye of Generalissimo Walter JoJohnson, who is assembling his forces at Biloxi for the second consecutive season.

The little band that left Washington on a morning train, made up for the most part of the rookiest rookie pitchers, with a smattering of mound veterans, emitted no hint of boredom by bedtime, having spent their waking hours in the fascinating pastime of looking out the train windows or fingering the new bridge and casino decks.

Crowder Lone Veteran In Group.

When Manager Johnson recounted noses at Union Station, all were present or accounted for. This group comprised Pitchers Alvin Crowder, Art Fidler, Joe McMahon, Joe Smith and George Grayson, Outfielder Gordon Phelps and Trainer Mike Martin. Of the lot of players, Crowder alone has tasted big league fare.

Great was the contrast of the departure today and the embarkation of last year. The start of the 1930 campaign found Johnson leading a second division club to a Gulf of Mexico camp that was the veriest experiment in the matter of weather and facilities, and with little cause to believe that the Nats were destined for greater things. Today the JoJohnson club that is heading South is the popular choice to press the Athletics hardest, with pennant hopes rising high in the collective breasts of the Nats.

Columbus U. Engages Lynchburg Five Here

Columbus University's quintet goes a bit out of its class tonight when it engages the Lynchburg College five on the Central High floor, beginning at 9 o'clock. The Crimson, however, anticipates the game confidently, having gained the services of Frank Jahn, 6-foot-3 center. Lynchburg ranks second in Virginia State Conference circles and possesses a strong attack.

Doeg, Suter Advance In Bermuda Net Play

Hamilton, Bermuda, Feb. 24 (A.P.). Johnny Doeg, new No. 1 in the national ranking, advanced to the third round today in the Bermuda Lawn Tennis championships by defeating H. B. Kirkpatrick, of Fredericton, N. B., 6—1, 6—0, and Brownlow Eve, of Hamilton, 6—1, 6—1.

Clifford Sutter, of New Orleans, and Berkeley Bell, two of the younger stars, advanced through easy victories and Dr. Jack Wright, member of the Canadian Davis Cup Team, joined Doeg in the third round.

In the women's singles Penelope Anderson, Richmond, Va., defending champion, defeated Virginia Rice, 6—3, 1—6, 7—5, and Sarah Palfrey, of Boston, put out Mabel Robinson, a local girl, 6—1, 6—2.

Cox's 71 Card in Rain Leads Florida Open

Cedar Hills Golf Club, Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Whiffy Cox, the blustering boy from Brooklyn, picked them up out of the bog to lead the field of finishers at the first eighteen holes of the Florida open golf tournament here today.

Whiffy played the water-logged course in 36, 35—71, one under perfect figures, a stroke ahead of his playing mate, George Christ, Rochester, who had a 35, 37—72.

The 63 players started in a slow drizzle, and the adverse conditions told on some of the greats, such as Johnny Farrell, who last week won the Pensacola open championship, and Denny Shute, of Columbus, Ohio. Farrell finished with a poor 78, while Shute quit miserably with a card of 80.

Capital City Net League Elects Officers Tonight

The Capital City Tennis League will hold its annual meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at the home of A. W. Grant, president, of the circuit, 3201 Fifteenth street northeast, to elect new officers and outline plans for the coming season. It is understood that Mr. Grant, founder of the league, will not be considered for relection, at his own request.

Teams wishing to obtain a franchise in the league are invited to send representatives to the caucus. In addition to the nine teams which made up the league last year, at least one more request for a berth is under consideration, and that from a clique of netmen residing in Washington Grove, Md.

SISKIN AMONG "DARK HORSE" TRIO IN DERBY LIST

Vander Pool, Don Leon Problems

Trio Show Signs of Brilliance; Held as High as 40 to 1.

Vander Pool Victor in Two Encounters With Equipoise.

(This is another of a series dealing with the outstanding 3-year-olds of the turf.)

By ORLO ROBERTSON.

NEW YORK, Feb. 24 (A.P.).—From out of the West comes Siskin, a rugged son of Spinard, to join the unbeaten Vanderpool and Don Leon, of Kentucky, as the outstanding dark horses to win the pot of gold waiting at the end of the mile and a quarter jaunt known as the Kentucky Derby.

On the basis of 2-year-old performances and what meager information has leaked out of their winter quarters, the trio fall in line behind Equipoise, Twenty Grand, Mate and Insco as the public choices to carry off the honors at Churchill Downs on May 16. Odds varying from 20 to 1 to 40 to 1 can be obtained on either of the three in the Derby futures, while similar quotations may be had in the Preakness books.

Vanderpool, which races for Mrs. M. P. Allen's Tennessee Stable, failed to win the 2-year-old championship last year, but he turned in eleven victories in as many starts—something no other juvenile was able to do. Even the mighty Jamestown, the champion, finished second in the Hopeful.

Vanderpool Either Great or Lucky.

As the result of his unusual performance, Vanderpool is a problem that racing followers are finding hard to solve. They can not decide whether he is a great horse or just a lucky one.

The only youngster of the top notchers Vanderpool was allowed to meet was Equipoise, the favorite to win the Preakness and Derby. He defeated the Whitney ace by four lengths in the Aberdeen Stakes at Havre de Grace, when Equipoise stumbled at the barrier. In the Youthful Stakes at Jamaica, Equipoise reversed the decision only to lose by a disqualification and thus Vanderpool's record was kept clean.

Siskin also is a product of the winter tracks, coming from Agua Caliente, where he won the Futurity and the major share of his year's earnings of $31,215.

When it comes to 2-year-old records, however, Don Leon, which races for R. W. Collins, surpasses Siskin. The swift mid-Westerner was fourth in the list of juvenile money earners last year, earning $44,443 to drop in behind Equipoise, Jamestown and Mate.

During an arduous campaign of 18 races, Don Leon met and defeated every juvenile of rank in the Middle West. Late in the fall he came East, set all the early pace in the Eastern Shore Handicap at Havre de Grace only to lose to Equipoise in the final strides. Jockeys who rode Don Leon, claim he is the fastest horse away from the barrier they ever had ridden.

THE GREAT CRESTED FLY-CATCHER ALWAYS LINES ITS NEST WITH A SNAKE'S SKIN...
MRS. FLORETTA McCUTCHEON— of Pueblo, Col. HAS BOWLED FOUR 300 GAMES!

BESIDES having four 300 games to her credit, Mrs. Floretta McCutcheon has also rolled four 299s, one 290, five 289s, and sixteen 279s. On a tour during the 1929-30 season, Mrs. McCutcheon averaged 199 for 871 games, and more recently at Morris, Minn., she amassed a total score of 832 for three games, which is a mark few men attain, and a record score for women.

• • • •

The tiny village of Spurn Head, England, is located 5 miles from the nearest town. To provide transportation to the "outside world", the male population of this lonely settlement rigged up a sail on a railway truck. The sailing railway car can accommodate the whole settlement at one time, as the entire population is made up of a lifeboat crew and their families.

• • • •

The nest of the great crested fly-catcher is usually found in the deserted holes of woodpeckers, and always contains the skin of a snake. Numerous bits of other material tthat go to make up the nest are piled on top of the snake skin, which acts as a sort of cushion. Why the crested fly-catcher insists on the snake skin no one knows, but not one of their nests is found without one.

—Miami Selections—

By J. R. SNODGRASS

CROSS BONES, in his second to Swinfield, qualified in an outstanding way for the Brighton Handicap, which features the Hialeah Park card today.

There are several speedy horses in this field of nine sprinters, the most formidable contender seeming to be ELLICE, which is coupled with JACK HOWE as the J. C. Ellis entry. Swinfield's surprising race in which he beat Cross Bones was run in 1:11 1-5, and in view of the fact that CROSS BONES broke slowly and then went wide, he should be the outstanding horse on the program, and he gets in the race with the feather of 104 pounds. That ELLICE should be the contender is shown in her race against General A, which resulted in her defeat by a neck. The last named horse, which has won his last two starts, should be as good as third. SCATTER is another juggler with lightning speed that has a chance.

FIRST RACE—WAVE TOP is overdue. She was out of the money in her last start, but ran third to Begorra and Nursery Rhymes in her previous race, and these are of better class than the field today. That race was in 1:12. WICKER has a look in and should place.

SECOND RACE—FREDERICK looks best. His last race in the Nursery race was a good effort and his stablemate Portidem was third in that stake. Previously he had run third to Kayo. MY PURCHASE, second to Don Red on the 10th instant, will offer Spaniard, Tallow and Captive also ran. Time, 1:15.

FOURTH—One and one-sixteenth miles; purse, $1,000; claiming; for 4-year-olds and upward.

Flying Cherokee, Master Toney, The stout contention, on form, but SHIVA, a first starter, has worked so well that he is placed second in the lineup.

THIRD RACE—Some Florida Derby candidates start in the third race for 3-year-olds. SAN PRESTO, a Miami winner and beaten a neck by Outburst Saturday, sems to be the logical winner of the small but classy field. FERVID, another fast one, finished behind him in that race. UPSWEEP has run one winning race at this track, beating Madelon on the 16th by four lengths. He should be the principal contender in this dash, although seming to like a longer route.

FOURTH RACE — STELLANOVA, from the J. E. Widener Stable, again coupled with CHRISTMAS and winner of two races at this track, should make it three in the fourth. She likes a route. THE GEN, running Mymheer to a nose finish last out, should be the contender.

SIXTH RACE—LAHOR can do better than recent races show and is selected to win the sixth event on the card, taking a chance that the Rancocas cast-off once a stake horse, will flash something of his old form, for which he has been carefully conditioned. WHISP is the dangerous one and may be favorite on recent form, having finished second to the fast Dr. Parrish a short time ago.

SEVENTH RACE—PLUMBAGO is selected in the seventh race. He should have won his last start, but was beaten a nose by My Scoop on a muddy track. HERB ASHBY should hold the others safe, relying on his most recent form in which he was third to Mary Dale. TOMMY should close ranks on the balance of the field and take the show money.

OFFICE
DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC HEALTH
ALLIANCE, OHIO
July 1, 1930

DR. EARL MUSSLEMAN
Health Commissioner

American Cigar Co.
111 Fifth Avenue
New York, N. Y.

Gentlemen:

I am very glad to endorse your advertising campaign which so effectively cooperates with many non-commercial organizations seeking to fight disease.

Your advertisements warn against the danger to health in the "Spit-tipping" method of cigar manufacture and the affront to decency in such methods. You are thus helping awaken the public to the ever existent danger in spitting wherever this nuisance may occur.

Public health organizations have for years felt the need of such cooperation a commercial institutions may give in stressing the danger to health in such practices.

If publication of this letter will be of any use to you please be assured of my full permission to so use it over my signature.

Very truly yours,
Earl Musselman
Health Commissioner

EPM/AM

...one of 56 health officials from 56 different points approving Cremo's crusade against spit or spit-tipping.

Every smoker, every wife whose husband smokes cigars, should read Dr. Mussleman's letter.

"Who are the friends of 'Spit'?"

YOU MAY WELL ASK THIS QUESTION WHEN 56 IMPORTANT HEALTH OFFICIALS HAVE WRITTEN SO STRONGLY AGAINST THE EVILS OF SPIT OR SPIT-TIPPING.

Dr. Mussleman writes: "Your advertisements warn against the danger to health in the 'Spit-tipping' method of cigar manufacture."

The war against spit is a crusade of decency. Join it... Smoke Certified Cremo — a really wonderful smoke — mild — mellow — nut-sweet! Every leaf entering the clean, sunny Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture.

In this period of cold weather and cracked lips, above all insist on a cigar—free of the spit germ.

SAYS PEGLER

ered a night when his wife lay dying. He had lost a fight and afterward his party went to a place for spaghetti and highballs. He sat at the table, his head lowered in his big, lumpy fingers, a figure of sorrow, and his manager, leaning over, said: "He didn't mind blowing the decision, although I don't see how they ever give it to the other guy. All through the fight he was thinking about Mary, sick there at home, and he's thinking of her now."

At this instant, however, the young ladies of the ensemble came out to step and wiggle in the figures of the floor show, and the stricken youth brightened with what I thought was a great effort of the will. One on the end smiled at him.

"Hello, honey," he said. "What about after?" She nodded and he nodded.

"Don't mean a thing," said his manager. "He's just trying to forget."

I always thought that H. C. Witter's short fiction about prize fighters was strictly moving picture work and rather awful. I have heard that he once was a preliminary fighter himself, and if that was so he must have known the business, but if he did know it he never was able to put it convincingly on paper. It was expensive and amusing, but it wasn't well to any one familiar with the business.

H. C. WITWER AMUSING; UNREAL

William T. Tilden, that busy and erratic genius, wrote a fiction book about tennis last year. Just as a critic, I should borrow Al Smith's campaign comment on your Theodore Roosevelt. In reply to some denunciation by Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Smith remarked, "The young feller ain't there." So is Mr. Tilden.

"Young Man of Manhattan" dealt mainly with the sport writing business, and while some of the elder sport writers snorted at Miss Brush's sentimentality, it was they who were out of step, not the author. The business must have changed. We are a very home-loving, taxpaying trait now.

"Huddle" was a story of Notre Dame and Rockne's football teams, and I believe Wallace, who worked on the Pennsylvania steel mills to pay his way through Notre Dame, idealized his school in his first novel. Notre Dame was an ambition to him, and he loved it ever again on paper in a better story than he himself realizes. He tells of football as no other book writer has, but now he thinks it was shallow because it wasn't hard to write, so he is trying something hard, and therefore deep. It may not be as good.

The trouble with Vergani's book was its foreign locale, but it was a good story by some one who seems to know the prize fight business. I wonder where he learned it. He isn't a member of any of the sport writers' unions. I didn't read "Iron Man," but the sport writers liked it, and they are a cold jury.

In a country where one follows sport of one or more kinds and every other one has written or is writing a book, it is strange that there has not been more good sport fiction. Magazine and book publishers are constantly on the prowl for it, but when the authors come to write, all but a few of them overdo the slang and wander far from the very interesting realities in pursuit of their plots. I must get going with that sport novel to end sport novels.

Gonzaga Again Beats Georgetown Prep Five

Gonzaga scored an overwhelming 52-15 victory over Georgetown Prep, its perennial rival, yesterday in the Gonzaga Gym. It was the fifth straight win for Gonzaga and the second victory this year over the future Hilltoppers.

Gonzaga took the lead early and never faltered. By half time the score stood 24-4. The first half was marked by the great shooting of the entire Gonzaga outfit and the good exhibition of guarding performed by Perusso, whose task was to cover Bull Heekin, captain and high scorer for the Georgetown outfit.

Heekin broke loose in the second half to score ten of his twelve points.

$200,000 CAR LINE ABANDONMENT BILL SHELVED BY BOARD

District Commissioners Put Aside Proposal for Railway Action.

COMPENSATION FUND ASKED ON REMOVAL

Mall Triangle Area Must Be Cleared of Tracks, Is U. S. Order.

The bill to pay R. L. May, owner of the Mount Vernon, Alexandria & Washington Railway Co., $200,000 for abandonment of his lines in Washington was shelved yesterday so far as the District Commissioners are concerned.

The measure, which would make the District responsible for $98,000 and the Federal Government responsible for $102,000 has aroused a great deal of controversy since it was drafted by the corporation counsel's office in accordance with terms reached at a series of conference of District and Federal officials with representatives of the railway.

So little time is left to consider the matter thoroughly, Maj. John C. Gotwals, Engineer Commissioner, said, that the District board decided to let matters take what course they will so far as the District is concerned.

Payment of Portion.

A hearing on the bill was asked of the Commissioners last week by William McK. Clayton, chairman of the public utilities committee of the Federation of Citizens Associations, and last Saturday night the organization went on record against the proposal.

Just what effect this laissez faire policy of the District authorities will have on Mr. May's plans for abandoning the entire line, if properly compensated, are conjectural. Unless a special measure providing for the payment of some portion of the $200,000 by the Federal Government for ejection of the railway from the Mall Triangle, as ordered by the Treasury Department, the line's tracks must be removed from this area by April 1.

Permission Already Refused.

The Public Utilities Commission has already refused permission to the line to erect a terminal on E street near Eleventh street because such a route would add to the traffic tangle at Fourteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue.

About the only alternative left Mr. May if he insists on maintaining the road is to build a terminal on lower Fourteenth street or else to end his life at Highway Bridge and to operate buses from that point into the Capital.

One of the reasons why the District government was interested in the discontinuance of the line at once was so that plans might be carried forward to improve Fourteenth street from Water street to Highway Bridge.

This development will probably be delayed a year or so as a result, Maj. Gotwals said, unless the railway is removed by Mr. May in the meanwhile.

Many Robberies Are Laid to Trio

Suspects Admit Looting of Hen Houses, Sheriff at Frederick Says.

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., Feb. 24.—Fred Baldwin, about 24, of Washington, and Harvey Cox and James Meadows, 25, claiming Martinsburg, W. Va., their home, arrested several days ago for attempting to break into a store and garage in Jefferson, a country town, near here, admitted to Sheriff Charles W. Crum today that they were implicated in a number of robberies, including visits to about a dozen hen houses during the past three months.

Baldwin was arrested in Washington and Cox and Meadows in Martinsburg, following an attempt to enter the store and garage. The trio were discovered at work by a vigilant committee on the lookout for thieves, and chased 15 miles. Sheriff Crum and Deputies Foreman and Loy took up the chase the following day, captured the young men and brought them to jail.

Since last November several stores and hen houses on farms were robbed. The thieves carried away their loot in automobiles. Farmers sat up at night with shotguns while others trained searchlights on chicken houses to save their poultry.

2 Hurt by Crash; Witness Arrested

Man Is Near Death After Accident on Road to Baltimore.

A colored man is near death in Casualty Hospital and a white man is being held as a State witness in the Bladensburg Jail after an accident yesterday on the Baltimore boulevard when a car ran into the rear of a moving van near Beltsville.

At Casualty Hospital the colored man, Clifford Laine, of 1452 N street northwest, was said to have internal injuries, lacerations to the scalp, and to have permanently lost sight of his right eye.

The white man gave his name as Julius Erhman, of Washington. He received lacerations of the scalp. Both men were treated by the Bladensburg rescue squad and put in the ambulance. While the driver was starting the machine for the run to the hospital, Ehrman left by the rear door. He was later captured by State Policeman C. W. Cubbage and taken before Judge Herbert P. Moffat, who set his bond at $200.

Child Injured by Fall.

A young colored child, the daughter of Mary Thornton, of Bladensburg, received serious injuries yesterday when it fell about 30 feet from a window at its home. The child was taken to Casualty Hospital by the Bladensburg unit of the rescue squad, where its injuries were diagnosed as a fractured skull and hemorrhage.

TWO GAME WARDENS ARE HELD IN KILLING

Powers and Dreisch Sent to Jail Without Bail in Alleged Murder.

Special to the Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 24.—Raymond Powers and Vernon J. Dreisch, both of Baltimore City, deputy State game wardens for Maryland, today were recommitted to the Anne Arundel County Jail without bail on a technical charge of murder, after a coroner's inquest held them responsible for the death of George E. Lee, 32, of West Annapolis, fatally wounded last Wednesday morning while fishing in the waters of the upper reaches of Severn River, near Indian Landing. They will be held for the action of the grand jury which meets in April.

Lee, who it was alleged was illegally gigging for fish in the darkness of the early morning hours, using a flashlight to attract the fish to the surface of the water, was shot through the abdomen and died in Emergency Hospital here late Thursday night.

The chief testimony given before the inquest was that of the dead man's brothers, Joseph and James, who were with him at the time of the shooting. They admitted illegally fishing, but denied any effort to escape, when the fish wardens, standing on the shore demanded them to desist and to come ashore. They said they immediately started to row their boat shoreward. First they said they heard one shot and then a fusillade of bulets began to whizz by them, one of which struck George Lee in the abdomen and he collapsed in the boat.

In the absence of direct evidence as to who fired the fatal shot, the inquest, of which Police Justice Louis M. Hopkins was coroner, held Powers and Dreisch jointly responsible for the tragedy.

Meanwhile several movements have been started here to provide succor for the widow and two young children of Lee who are in destitute circumstances. Augustus Warden, member of the House of Delegates from Somerset County, has signified his intention of presenting a joint resolution in the General Assembly tomorrow providing that the State pay a pension of $50 a month to Lee's family.

Body of Infant Found By Men Hauling Ashes

Two Negro workmen yesterday discovered the body of an infant in a load of ashes which they were depositing at the Rosslyn, Va., dump. Roosevelt Tanner and Kimmil Hinton, who made the find, took the corpse to the Seventh Precinct Station. An autopsy is expected to be performed at the morkue today.

The men believe the body was concealed in trash which was picked up in the rear of an address on P street near Tenth street northwest. It was wrapped in a sheet, which bore a Gallinger Hospital stamp, a bedspread and several Washington newspapers dated February 15 and 16.

MRS. BLANCHE F. LARKIN DIES

Manassas Woman Expires at Home of Sister at Berwyn.

Mrs. Blanche Faris Larkin, 57, of Manassas, died suddenly early yesterday morning at the home of her sister, Mrs. W. B. Lyham, at Berwyn, Md., whom she had been visiting since the death of Mr. Lyham last week.

Mrs. Larkin was the widow of James Reed Larkin, who prior to his death last October, was chairman of the Prince William County supervisors, and mother of Fairfax County Engineer F. Novell Larkin and "Tad" Larkin, professor in Lehigh University. She was the daughter of the late Charles Faris, who was for many years a resident of Washington. Besides her sons and sister, she is survived by two sisters, Mrs. John C. Brook, of Hyattsville, Md., and Mrs. Preston Miller, of Washington, and a brother, J. P. Faris, of Washington.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Trinity Episcopal Church in Manassas. Interment will take place beside her husband in the Manassas Cemetery.

Boy's Thumb Broken.

Joseph Lichliter, who lives on River road, near Baldensburg, received a broken thumb yesterday when he ran into a tree on the grounds of the Bladensburg School. The thumb was set by members of the Bladensburg rescue squad and he was allowed to go home.

90 Members of Bodies From 4 Counties Gather at Frederick.

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., Feb. 24.—About 90 members of the Frederick, Alleghany, Washington and Montgomery County Bar Associations held a banquet at the Francis Scott Key Hotel last night. J. Harry Covington, former chief judge of the District of Columbia Supreme Court and former member of Congress from Maryland, was the guest of honor and the principal speaker.

He took for his theme the development of the law and duties of lawyers. George R. Dennis, president of the Frederick Bar, welcomed the guests, with response by Edward Oswald, president of the Washington County Association, and William F. Prettyman, president of the Montgomery County Association.

Omer T. Kaylor, of Hagerstown, was the toastmaster and introduced Judge Covington. Chief and associate judges of the four counties were guest of honor.

Man Struck by Car at Hospital.

Thomas W. Ballard, 41, of West Falls Church, Va., did not have far to go for treatment yesterday when he was struck by an auto operated by Melvin H. Friedman, 21, of California street near Nineteenth street northwest. He was in front of Emergency Hospital. There Ballard was treated for lacerations of the face and permitted to leave.

ARLINGTON COUNTY G.O.P. TO OPEN DRIVE

Campaign to Begin Tonight, Despite Fact Election Is Nine Months Off.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST,
Tel. Clar. 500. Clarendon, Va.

What promises to be the launching of one of the most intensive campaigns by the Republican party of Arlington County will be inaugurated tonight at a smoker to be given under auspices of Arlington County Republican Club in Odd Fellows Hall at Clarendon.

The election for county offices is nine months off but party leaders contend now is the time to get in some of the most constructive work.

Arlington County is said to be the first county in the United States to adopt the county manager plan of government and the selection of those who will constitute the county board of five under the plan adopted is looked upon by many as one of the outstanding features of the coming county county election.

It is likely that certain of the Republican aspirants for office will make known their candidates at this gathering.

Aside from discussing plans for a constructive campaign the program tonight will include dancing, readings and a number of instrumental selections.

Supporting recent predictions by lumber dealers and others in Arlington County that the county is nearing one of the biggest building booms in its history with the completion of the new Arlington Memorial Bridge, plans are under way, it was revealed yesterday, for breaking ground for new homes in Lyon Village and Country Club Hills sections.

As stated by L. C. MacPherson, builder and contractor, who is preparing to erect a handsome home on Rucker avenue, Lyon Village, there will be many new homes built in Arlington County this spring and summer.

Completion of the Arlington Memorial Bridge, which will mean that residents of the county will be able to reach the heart of the District of Columbia in a much shorter time than by either the Key or Highway Bridge, will be an attractive selling point despite the many other advantages which Arlington County offers to the home owner.

In addition to the building boom which is predicted by Mr. MacPherson the State highway department is about ready to start operations on the Lee boulevard and later in the season will continue widening of Lee highway to Falls Church. Both of these operations mean employment, he stated.

Unanimous indorsement of the action of Col. H. G. Shirley, chairman of the State Highway Commission, in sending a prison camp to Arlington County, where convict labor will be used in construction of Lee boulevard, was given by the board of directors of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce at its meeting last night at Clarendon.

Members of the board expressed the opinion, drought not having affected Arlington County as it has other sections of the State, that sending of convict labor will not affect the labor situation in the county. On the other hand, construction of Lee boulevard will be of material benefit to the county. They further stated that it is not the plan of the State highway department to use convict labor in any other way than to do labor work and that there will be plenty of work for other classes of labor.

The board indorsed the movement which has been started by representatives from Fort Myer Heights Citizens Association, Lyon Park and Clarendon to have the county take over Washington street from the intersection of Wilson boulevard and Court street. Monroe H. Stockett was appointed by President L. C. Carl as a special representative from the Chamber of Commerce to work for the adoption of this street as an approach to the bridge.

President Carl announced appointment of the following committee chairmen:

Transportation, John A. Deuterman; legislation and research, Hugh Reid; sanitation and public health, Arthur J. Porter; streets and highways, Monroe H. Stockett; public utilities, P. E. Dewey; education, the Rev. Perry L. Mitchell; city planning and zoning, William S. Hoge, jr., sewer and water, A. L. Kelly; taxation, Harris Levy; industrial promotion, Hugh L. Kirby; publicity and entertainment, Guy N. Church; membership, Walter U. Varney; and finance, John A. Deuterman.

A special committee, consisting of William S. Hoge, jr., Walter U. Verney and Hugh L. Kirby, was appointed to use every effort to assist the Arlington-Fairfax Railway in its problem of continuing its service in face of the possibility of then discontinuance of the Mount Vernon Alexandria and Washington Railway.

With the arrival of two carloads of building material and other equipment in Arlington County yesterday preparations for the establishment of the convict camp where prisoners used on road construction work will be housed.

The group numbering about twelve unloaded the cars which were brought to the Lacey siding of the Old Dominion Railway under supervisoin of Maj. L. C. Jones, superintendent of the State prison camps.

This camp, it is stated, will house about 100 men and is located on the Carlin property just north of Glen Carlyn Station of the Old Dominion Railway who will work on the Lee boulevard.

Despite objections raised in some quarters in Arlington County, Col. H. G. Shirley, chairman of the State Highway Commission, has stated that the Lee boulevard is not an emergency project and, that prison labor will be used.

Robert I. Mount, resident State highway engineer, stated last night that he was unable to say just when the work would be started.

The cases of Hurbert Brown and J. G. Berry, each charged with operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor, were continued until Friday morning by Police Judge Harry R. Thomas yesterday. Each was later released on $500 bond.

Marion Baker and Paul J. Frederick, charged with reckless driving, each forfeited $15 in Police Court yesterday.

J. J. Herrity, Mrs. C. H. Webb and Mrs. J. C. Robertson, charged with operating an automobile with improper license tags, were each fined $14.25, including costs, by Judge Thomas. An appeal was noted in the case of J. J. Herrity.

Meeting last night at the home of Thomas R. Mecham in Lyon Park in protest of the use of convict labor on the Lee Boulevard in Arlington County, representatives of organized labor in the county completed plans for a mass meeting in the Ashton Heights Woman's Clubhouse Saturday night.

A special committee, consisting of Maj. W. R. Richards, of the Association of General Contractors of America, H. L. Zile and Thomas R. Mechem will call upon Secretary Doak today in an effort to have him address the meeting.

The American Legion Auxiliary to Arlington Post No. 139 will hold its monthly meeting tonight at Clarendon Methodist Church at 8 o'clock.

The Arlington County Monarch Club will hold its weekly luncheon meeting tomorrow at 12 o'clock at Windsor Arms, on Glebe Road.

Members of the club will be the guests today of the Washington Club at Luncheon in the Hamilton Hotel, Washington.

The Arlington Rotary Club will meet tomorrow at 12 o'clock at Washington Golf and Country Club. All members are asked to attend.

The ladies' auxiliary to the Clarendon Volunteer Fire Department announces that it will give a benefit dinner in the Firemen's Hall the evening of February 28.

Big Still, Sighted By Plane, Seized

Wisp of Smoke From Ravine Leads to Calculations and Raid by Squad.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—From an airplane Lewis J. Tutt, assistant prohibition administrator for New Jersey, spied a suspicious wisp of smoke in a secluded ravine near here, as he flew from Newark to Baltimore for a conference.

With the aid of a map and some rapid calculation involving elapsed time and the speed of the plane, Tutt and Robert D. Ford, Maryland assistant administrator, figured out the approximate location of the smoke to be about 10 miles north of here, near Bengies.

A squad of four agents headed by Thomas W. Andrews were sent to investigate. They found a still, 548 gallons of whisky, and 33,000 gallons of mash. No arrests were made. Tutt's trip was on Saturday, but details of the air scouting and the raid were not made public until today.

4 VIRGINIANS SEEK WEST POINT PLACE

Newport News Youth and Three From Richmond Among Aspirants.

Richmnod, Va., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Four Virginians are listed as candidates and alternates to appear before the Army examining board March 3 at the Army medical center, Washington, for admission to the United States Military Academy at West Point.

The candidates are John Joseph Becker, 346 Fifty-sixth street, Newport News, First Virginia District, and David Campbell Wallace, 100 South Boulevard, Richmond, Third Congresional District. Stewart Bryan West, of 2001 Barton avenue, Richmond, was named first alternate, and Carter Spottswood Vaden, 1400 Park avenue, Richmond, second alternate.

Approximately 225 candidates will appear March 3. Most of them are from the Third Army Corps area, including Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia and District of Columbia.

Included in the number are nine enlisted men from Regular Army units within the corps area who have successfully passed their preliminary examinations, concluding the course of instruction at the Third Corps Area Preparatory School at Fort Monroe.

Examinations will include finals in both mental and physical tests. Sixteen officers have been detailed in orders from Third Corps area headquarters at Baltimore to conduct the examinations.

Candidates for congressional or senatorial apointment may be chosen either by competition within their respective districts or by personal designation of the appointing official and may be admitted to the Military Academy on educational certificate without examination. No such latitude is offered for those seeking admission from the Regular Army, National Guard or the United States at large where competition is keen and appointments are made in order of merit based upon the final competitive examination.

A total of 122 cadetships is provided for the United States at large, two additional from Porto Rico, four from the Territories, four from the District of Columbia and 180 from the Regular Army and National Guard.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE VANISHED CIRCUS STAR.

I.

WHEN it's circus time next season
And the "big show" pressmen brag
Of the "Jumbo who can reason,"
And the cry is "Five a bag!"
When the barns and sheds are flaming
With the posters loud and gay
And the countryside's proclaiming
That the show is on the way—
Circus fans will feel a yearning
Through the country everywhere
For a star who's not returning—
For a name that isn't there.

II.

When the lilacs are a-blooming
And the nights are slow to fall
And the whole earth just seems grooming
Joys and pleasure for us all—
When the wheezy peanut roasters
Whistle out their springtime song
And the man who puts the posters
On the fences comes along
And bedecks the land with pictures
Of each circus king and queen
One of circusdom's famed fixtures
Will be missing from the scene.

III.

When the whistles at the siding
Just before the break of day
Tell the folks the show is riding
Into town again to play—
When the trains begin unpacking
For the trip out to the lot
And the chariots are tracking
Through the streets already hot—
When the canvasmen are pitching
Tents that billow in the air
There will be a star bewitching
Who'll be just a spirit there.

IV.

WHEN the big parade is swaying
Down the crowded city streets
And the steam planner's playing
Tunes it constantly repeats;
When the elephants so passive
Come a-tramping down the line
With the rhino, gray and massive,
In the cage that's just behin'—
When the circus great are gliding
By in tinseled, spangled cloaks
There will be one lady riding
With the ghosts of circus folks.

V.

When the brassy bands are blaring
And the big show's under way
With the crack performers sharing
In the plaudits of the day—
When the feats so death-defying
Hold the gaping throngs in awe
And the acrobats go flying
Through their tricks without a flaw,
You will find your thoughts will swing back
To an old-time circus thrill
And you'll wish that you could bring back
One great lady to the bill.

VI.

When the big top's hushed and noiseless
For the ace act of the air
And the spellbound crowd is voiceless
Underneath the spotlight's glare.
There will be some stunt amazing—
There will be an act to thrill—
There'll be gaping thousands gazing
In the tent so big and still
But their eyes will blur a minute
And they'll fancy that they see
Dainty, blonde Miss Leitzel in it
As she always used to be.

PUBLIC CONFIDENCE RESTORED.

WELL, the barbers are beginning to distribute stock market advice again and profits are being guaranteed at the rate of about $10,000 to the shave, as in the good old days.

One of the things causing Mahatma Ghandi to stand out as a great man is the fact that he refuses to indorse any shaving cream, discuss a radio contract or even listen to offers from the motion picture magnates.

POLLS OPEN TODAY AT FALLS CHURCH

All Property Owners Urged to Vote on Proposed Water Bond Issue.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST,
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon, 2324-W-2.

The resident freehold property owners of the town of Falls Church will vote on the proposed $125,000 municipal water bond issue today. Only persons over 21 years old, owning real estate in the incorporated limits, and residing there will be allowed to participate in today's election, whether they have paid their poll taxes or not. The polls open at sunrise and close at sunset. Government employes are urged to vote before they leave for work in the morning. Mayor L. P. Daniel has named Councilmen A. T. Parrott and Frank Birch and Town Clerk J. C. Parrott to act as judges. An election on the same subject last month failed because an insufficient number of votes were cast to make the 50 per cent of the list as required by the town charter.

Of the freeholders within the corporate limits at least 50 per cent of those whose names are on the approved list must participate today or the election will not be valid. The town council held a special meeting last night to pass on the final list of freeholders. Approximately 500 names were on the approved list.

The town of Falls Church is in a peculiar position because its corporate limits lies in two counties—Arlington and Fairfax. The Arlington portion of the town is supplied with water from mains of that county. These mains can not, under present conditions, be extended into the Fairfax County portion of the town, which includes the greatest proportion of the town's area and population.

The plans evolved by a special committee, consisting of members of the council and citizens, calls, it is argued, for no great increases in taxes, the only increases being for fire protection purposes. The plans of the committee, briefly summarized, are as follows:

The Town of Falls Church is to purchase from Arlington County all mains and fire hydrants already installed within the corporation limits; refund to citizens all payments of frontage charges where made in cash, and pay all notes given for the same purpose; extend the water mains over the rest of Falls Church; purchase water from Arlington County at the corporation line; arrange, if possible, to have the Arlington County water department read the meters and render bills.

If today's election carries, town officials plan to push the work through with all possible speed. A second election for qualified voters of the town will be held in 30 days. If the second action is also successful, the final plans will necessarily be deferred until consulting engineers are employed. The preliminary work, however, insures that rapid progress will be made when the town government is authorized to proceed. Arrangements have been made to have two special buses at the town hall this morning to take the citizens into Washington in time for the opening of the Government departments, thereby enabling them to cast their ballots.

Machines will be at the railway station in the afternoon to rush the late arrivals to the polls. The committee stated last night that anyone desiring transportation today only will have to call the police station or any member of the water committee. The Fire Department is planning to stage a demonstration during the day, and to drive through the streets with the fire engines. The Northwest Citizens Association has appointed a committee consisting of Robert E. Kendrick, John T. Bowen, Charles E. Gage, E. L. Brandon and Thomas Probey, to give their time and cars for assisting voters in getting to the polls.

BONDING OFFICIAL HELD AS SUSPECT

Awaits Inquiry on Charge of Recovering $822,000 of Stolen Bonds for Fee.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 24 (A.P.).—Emmett Myers, resident vice president of the Fidelity & Deposit Co. of Maryland, was arrested and released under $10,000 bond today and booked as "held for investigation, suspected of compounding a felony" in connection with the recovery of $822,000 in stolen bons for the Grand National Bank.

A grand jury inquiry into the circumstances regarding the return of the bonds to the bank, for $140,000, has been called for Thursday. Myers, who employed State Representative Joseph L. Lemon to negotiate for the recovery of the bonds, was arrested on the order of Police Chief Joseph Gerk, and Chief of Detectives Robert Kaiser, after they examined Myers.

Summarizing Myers' statements as to his connection with the transaction, both police officers said he admitted he made the deal by which the bonds were returned through Mr. Lemon; that he made a trip to Baltimore where his superiors told him to go ahead so long as he did not violate the law; that he admitted hiring Mr. Lemon to act as attorney for his company in the transaction; that he rented a safety deposit box at the First National Bank and that the bonds remained there 43 days until their delivery last Friday to Ed Mays, president of the looted Grand National Bank.

The bank was robbed of approximately $1,000,000 last May, when the main door of the safety deposit vault had been removed to a new building. The robbers overpowered a watchman and a porter and proceeded leisurely to rifle the safe deposit boxes by tearing away a sheet of metal from the back of the tiers of boxes.

Of the loot $74,000 was cash, and jewelry valued at $60,000. The bonds were returned Friday following the payment of $140,000 to Myers to be used in negotiations for return of the securities.

SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL WANTED IN COUNTY

Montgomery Board Urges Paving Between Car Tracks in Area.

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

Construction of a senior high school in the eastern suburban section as advocated by a group of fifteen civic groups in the Silver Spring-Takoma Park area, purchase of a site for construction of a central high school in the Kensington area and paving of car tracks on Connecticut avenue are recommended in resolutions adopted yesterday by the Montgomery County Commissioners.

The commissioners point out that the district has the largest school population in Montgomery County and a larger percentage of this school population lives within a 2-mile radius.

"We feel the first consolidated suburban senior high school should be located in the eastern suburban district and, further, that provision for such a high school in the 1931-32 school bond issues will equalize to a certain extent the discrimination existing between the recommended expenditures of the eastern and western suburban districts in the proposals outlined in the statement of Senator Hilton and President Shaw of this board of commissioners."

The commissioners recommend that the $100,000 item now listed for the 1933 bond issue for the purchase of school sites be advanced to the 1931 bond issue and increased by $20,000 and that an appropriation of $150,000 be included in the 1932 bond issue for the construction of a first twelve-room unit, gymnasium and assembly hall of the eastern suburban senior high school.

The $20,000 increase is recommended in order that a site for a central high school can be purchased in the Kensington-Garrett Park area adjacent to the projected Rock Creek Park. This will allow the county to erect a high school in 1936 provided that the then school population justifies such a project, otherwise the site will be included in the park project.

While the board specifically states it is not committed and that neither the county board of education nor its superintendent of schools is committed to the location of the school at Kensington, it is the belief of the board that the Kensington High School should be a specialized high school.

The board is of the opinion that such a location will be suitable and logical in the future and that the site should be purchased now in order to avoid excessive charges for the land in the future.

The board recommends that the $36,000 item for the addition of six high school rooms for the Takoma-Silver Spring High School in the 1932 bond issue be eliminated. It further decided it may be desirable to expend the $75,000 recommended for the construction of twelve new classrooms at the Chevy Chase-Bethesda High School on the site of the new senior high school for the western suburban district, the purchase of which is provided in the 1932 bond issue, rather than on the present Chevy Chase-Bethesda High School site as recommended.

An item recommending appropriation of $30,000 in the 1931 county road bond issue for paving between the street car tracks on Connecticut avenue from Bradley lane to Chevy Chase Lake, provided an agreement can be made with the Capital Traction Co. To balance this appropriation an additional appropriation of $55,000 for new road construction in the northern county and $25,900 in the eastern suburban district are recommended.

Three prominent residents of the Laytonsville District yesterday appeared before the board of county commissioners to ask that the board interest itself in some form of relief for drought sufferers in the county.

The delegation, which included L. E. Riggs, Z. McCubbin Waters, jr., and Harry W. Blunt, proposed two plans. First, to reduce the wage scale for work on the county roads in order that more of the unemployed can be put to work, or Second, to maintain the present scal and stagger the employment, that is, to permit one group to work a week and then lay them off while another group earns a week's pay.

The delegation asserted its disapproval of any dole system. The commissioners were urged to hasten the construction of public projects in order that the unemployment situation might be alleviated.

Entry of the home of Dr. Arthur W. Shea, 4518 Walsh street, Leland, Md., by a burglar whose methods resembled the "match thief" who has been operating in suburban Montgomery County for more than a year, was reported to Bethesda substation police yesterday. Burnt matches were spread around the house and jewelry valued at several hundred dollars was taken. Policeman Theodore Vollten investigated.

Letters praising the prompt and efficient action of the police of the Bethesda substation in the recent hold-up and robbery of the Bethesda Pharmacy were received yesterday by the Montgomery County commissioners.

James A. Link, proprietor of the drug store, said: "I wish to take this opportunity to thank the police of the Bethesda substation for their prompt action in arresting the four bandits who held up the pharmacy on the night of February 13. I was not present at the time the robbery occurred, but arrived later. Within a few minutes after the robbery occurred one man was arrested and the following morning the other three were in custody. I believe that the prompt and efficient police work such as was done in this case is worthy of sincere commendation."

Dr. Charles Schsrer, the druggist who was on duty, wrote: "I wish to express my personal thanks for the prompt police assistance rendered by the officers of the Bethesda substation.

"It was a great satisfaction to the people of the county to know that our community is guarded by such efficient officers. Please convey to the officers who participated in this case my sincere appreciation of their efforts." The letters were ordered filed at the substation.
